Russians Tell NATO Keep Nose Out Of Controversy About Berlin

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russians told the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Saturday to keep out of the controversy about Berlin.

Soviet newspapers said the Kremlin is interested in dealing only with the United States, France, and Britain — "states which have direct relations with the present Berlin situation."

NATO leaders regard the Big Three garrisons in West Berlin as covered by the Atlantic alliance calling for mutual retaliation against an aggressive attack on any of the 15 members.

Pravda challenged the right of NATO to bring up Berlin at its recent meeting in Paris.

"NATO did not even exist at the time when the states of the anti-Hitler coalition struggled with German fascists to defend the cause of independence of European countries," the paper said.

The Russians announced Nov. 27 that they intend to hand the Eastern sector of Berlin over to the East German Communist regime within six months.

Izvestia said the big Western powers had raised the Berlin issue at the NATO conference in an effort to overcome NATO's internal instability. The Soviet government newspaper said the Western powers are behaving like "desperate gamblers who are ready to bet everything on the last card—Berlin."

The Soviet Union is not afraid of "threats by cheats," Izvestia said, and declared any attempt to force the Russians to retreat from their "just demands" on the Berlin question would fail.

The Soviet military commander in East Germany, Maj. Gen. Nikolai F. Zakharov, warned that the Red army would "check resolutely any attempt by the occupiers to use force in order to prevent normalization of West Berlin."

In an interview with the official East German news agency ADN, Zakharov noted that some Western officials, whom he called "overheated hotheads," were talking of using troops and tanks to keep open Western supply routes to West Berlin.

"Such a development in the situation would mean the unleashing of war-like conflict which could not be confined to a local area," he said.

The Soviet press, which frequently assails Western generals on charges of saber rattling, published Zakharov's bristling statements.

Strikes Shut Down Two Big Airlines

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the second holiday period in a row, tens of thousands of travelers scrambled Saturday for alternate means of travel as a result of strikes shutting down two of the nation's biggest airlines.

In many parts of the country, particularly in the East, the situation was difficult as Christmas approached. Railroads, bus lines, and other airlines were swamped with space requests.

At other points these facilities were able to handle the extra burden. At times airline seats were going empty. This was because some passengers, just to make sure of space, had made reservations on two or more lines.

American Airlines Pilots struck Friday night, adding further travel woes to those already created by a walkout of Eastern Air Lines Mechanics and Flight Engineers Nov. 24.

American and the Air Line Pilots Assn. broke off contract talks on a somber note. A union spokesman and a federal mediator both voiced belief it was going to be a long strike. No further meetings between parties were scheduled immediately.

Negotiations between Eastern and its Flight Engineers also are stalemated, with mediation efforts fruitless so far. Eastern's Machinists quit soon after the Engineers, largely in support of them but also demanding new contract benefits.

The Machinists' voted on proposals offered by Eastern at a meeting in Miami, Fla., Friday night but withheld announcement of the result pending a company settlement with the Engineers.

A spokesman for American estimated that as much as one-third of the nation's daily air travel was affected by the two strikes.

During the Thanksgiving holiday period, very nearly the same situation prevailed as a result of the

Seek Victim Of Mysterious Murder Plot

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) —Authorities sought some clue Saturday to whereabouts of the victim of an alleged cloak-and-dagger type murder plot.

Missing was Mrs. Olga Duncan, 30. Police charge that her mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, 54, and two hired assassins seized the younger woman from her apartment late one night.

Officers grilled witnesses, trying to pin down a possible area where they could search for the missing woman or her body.

Charges of conspiracy to commit murder and conspiracy to kidnap have been filed against the elder Mrs. Duncan; Augustine Baldonado, 25, and Luis Moya, 22. Bail for each was set at $100,000.

A lengthy complaint filed by Dist. Atty. Vern Thomas charges that the oft-married mother-in-law was introduced to Baldonado and Moya after she asked a cafe owner to obtain somebody to help kidnap and kill Olga Duncan. The complaint says the trio held several meetings plotting Olga's death and Mrs. Duncan paid part of the $3,000 agreed price.

The missing woman's husband, Santa Barbara attorney Frank Duncan, 30, has expressed the belief she is still alive. The two were estranged. The wife was pregnant.

Olga Duncan disappeared from her Santa Barbara apartment the night of Nov. 17. She has not been seen since. Lights were left on in the apartment and the door was open.

Police Capt. A. C. Wade said officials were trying to pinpoint possible location of Mrs. Duncan's body before they attempt a search. A street-paving project near the missing woman's apartment was ordered suspended.

Mrs. Eisenhower Helps Launch March Of Dimes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower Saturday helped launch the 65 million dollar March of Dimes drive for 1959 by greeting three of the national foundation's poster children.

Mrs. Eisenhower urged support of the foundation's broadened attack against arthritis and birth defects in children as well as polio. The 21st annual appeal starts Jan. 2.

The First Lady met the youngsters in the White Hosse diplomatic reception room. Wearing a black dress with bright Christmas corsage, she posed with them — Doreen Yisha, 2-year-old arthritis victim from Cleveland, Ohio; Jeffrey Reil, 11, of Brooklyn, N.Y., born with a defective spine, and Pamela Ruth Henry, 8, of Oklahoma City, a polio patient.

HORSES DIE IN STABLE FIRE

CAMDEN, S. C. (AP) — Two lead ponies and seven race horses died in a stable fire here Friday.

Five of the 14 horses in the stable were saved by a quick acting stable boy who let the animals from their stalls.

Thomas E. Waller of Bedford Hills, N. Y., operated the stables. He leased them from Mrs. Marian duPont Scott.

World Peace Still Eisenhower's No. 1 Goal, Overriding Interest

EDITOR'S NOTE: — The following look at how President Eisenhower is handling his job after six years in office is written by Marvin L. Arrowsmith, who has covered the White House for The Associated Press during all the years Eisenhower has served.

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — World peace, enduring and just, still is President Eisenhower's No. 1 goal and overriding interest after six years in office.

As he prepares to start his seventh year, Eisenhower still doesn't like politics in the broad sense—particularly the pulling and hauling, the bargaining which are an inevitable part of any administration's efforts to get legislation through Congress.

Nor has Eisenhower ever relished his role as head of the Republican party. His interest in the role is likely to diminish during his remaining two years in the White House.

It would be over-simplifying to say that Eisenhower's dislike for politics on the one hand and his deep interest in the search for peace on the other provides a full answer on how he ticks as president.

But perhaps more than anything else they are key factors in getting at Eisenhower's operations pattern of the last six years, and in looking ahead to the rest of his term.

American Girl Loses Life In Blast In Bar In Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A pre-Christmas vacation trip to Mexico cost pretty blonde Betty Arnold, of Houston, Tex., her life in a mysterious explosion Friday night.

Police investigators said Saturday the 23-year-old girl, a graduate of Rice Institute in 1957, was one of the victims of the blast in the La Ronda Bar that killed four other persons, employes of the fashionable cafe. She was identified by a school class ring.

Investigators say the explosion apparently was caused by a powerfull bomb but had no official explanation of the motive.

The bar is a favorite night spot for foreigners and Mexican socialites and several Cubans were known to have been among the diners.

Whether they were a target for the numerous followers of Cuban rebel leader Fidel Castro who live here, was one subject the investigators were pursuing.

Several prominent Mexican politicians also were among the diners but none was sufficiently controversial to be the object of such violence.

Investigators discounted reports that a gas main explosion might have caused the blast.

Miss Arnold died soon after she was removed from the ruins of the building. One rescuer said she called for help in Spanish as she was placed in an ambulance.

The daughter of Houston attorney and Mrs. W. N. Arnold Jr., the girl flew to Mexico City Friday to visit friends, her sister Virginia said in Houston.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The picture of the trajectory of the newest earth satellite transmitted by Associated Press Wirephoto was made on a gamble that paid off for Ferd Kaufman.

Kaufman, night picture editor in the Dallas bureau of the Associated Press, said, "I think I'll take a few minutes off and shoot that thing." Kaufman is a veteran photographer.

He drove to a residential area to get away from downtown lights and set up a tripod for his 2¼X 2¼ camera (Hassleblad).

When he saw the satellite, he opened his 640 mm. telephoto lens to full opening, F-5, and held the shutter open until the satellite moved out of the lens sighting.

Kaufman estimated the exposure at three seconds, using triple-X film. He developed the negative twice as long as normally.

Electric Teletypewriter Code Signals Relay Communications

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists sent a voice message up to the Atlas satellite and the robot repeated it back to another receiving station on earth Saturday, "loud and clear."

The Defense Department said this was the "first successful" test of the voice relay technique.

Shortly before, electric teletypewriter signals had been used for relaying the printed words of President Eisenhower's now famous space broadcast about Christmas.

The Pentagon said that shortly after 5 p.m. EST the communications station at Corona, Calif., contacted the satellite as it passed overhead.

The tape in the recording system of the satellite already had been erased of previous signals. However, the California station sent a second signal to be sure the tape was ready for receiving. Then a voice for recording aboard the satellite said:

"This is Prado Dam United States Army Signal Research and Development Laboratory tracking station, Corona, Calif. We are transmitting the president's message which was received at this station from the Atlas on Dec. 19, 1958."

The original taped message of the President's words then followed.

As the satellite moved eastward, the station at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., "interrogated" the satellite at 5:10 p.m. EST, ordering the satellite to send down the message it had received.

This message, the Pentagon said "was received loud and clear by the Texas station and by the Georgia station."

The station at Ft. Stewart, Ga., then in turn interrogated the satellite and that station also received the voice recording from the rocket.

The station at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz, was not in position to receive on this orbital pass of the satellite.

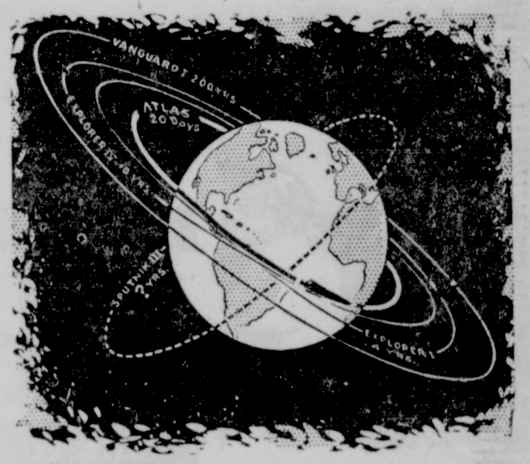

In the next and final pass for the day, the same experiment was repeated, again with success.

This time, the California station sent a four-minute message to the satellite at 6:55 p.m. EST. The same station then commanded the satellite to repeat the message, which was heard by the Texas and Arizona stations and part of it by the Georgia station.

The same presidential greeting was used, preceded by an identification message both in voice and in teletypewriter code.

The satellite's orbit will move

Israeli Fighters, UAR Jets Battle Over Israel's Soil

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Israeli fighters fought a blazing air battle with eight United Arab Republic MIG17s over Israel's soil Saturday and one of the intruders was shot down, the army said.

The battle was joined around noon when the Soviet-made jets flew 25 miles inside Israel over the Negev Desert from the U.A.R.'s Sinai Peninsula, the announcement reported.

The Cairo radio said "four Israeli fighters violated the U.A.R. air space in the El Arish area (of the Sinai Desert) today and our fighter planes intercepted and battled with them, forcing them to flee." The broadcast said nothing about losses on either side.)

The pilot of one Israeli plane in the battle said he saw the Egyptian pilot bail out of the hit plane shortly before it crashed.

The Israeli spokesman gave this account.

As soon as the signal of the U.A.R. planes' approach reached the Israeli command, the air force sent its fighters into the sky.

They met the U.A.R. planes over the Negev Desert south of Beersheba. Although outnumbered, the Israeli planes forced the intruders to turn back in a brief but fierce clash at 32,000 feet.

West Will Demand Soviet Drop 6-Month Ultimatum On Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, Britain, and France will send notes to Moscow in the next 10 days demanding that Premier Nikita Khrushchev drop his six-month Berlin ultimatum as a condition for opening East-West negotiations on the whole range of German reunification problems.

U.S. officials said Saturday they are anxious to have the note delivered by the first of the year so that if Khrushchev has any counterproposals for a resolution of the Berlin crisis he can send them to Washington by his trusted friend and troubleshooter, First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan.

Mikoyan plans to come here in the first two weeks of January for a visit with Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov. While here he is expected to talk with President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles, and perhaps Vice President Nixon and other officials.

Diplomats speculated further that he also probably would want to talk with some Democratic leaders just as Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) talked recently with Khrushchev.

The present estimate of officials here is that Mikoyan's primary purpose in making the trip is to start a drive for U.S. loans to finance a greatly expanded trade between this country and the Soviet Union.

They said he stands to gain whether this mission succeeds or fails. If he is able to open up trade channels, the Soviet Union then could buy large quantities of goods it needs for its rapid economic expansion, aimed at overtaking U.S. production. If he is rebuffed, his government can make a great propaganda play against the United States.

All this, however, does not rule out the possibility that Mikoyan may talk of other subjects. Even if Khrushchev did not decide to send him as an emissary to have secret negotiations on the Berlin crisis, he could still use him to convey his own private views to Eisenhower and Dulles on what he is really after in Germany.

FRANCE GETS TOUGH

PARIS (AP)—France is getting tough on wild drivers and jaywalkers. The lowest fine for bad driving is $14 — a sevenfold increase—and the maximum is $86 and 30 days in jail. It's much more and a prison term for a repeater. Jaywalking can cost $1 to $5. Road accidents in France last year killed 10,000, injured 150,000.

Portland's Candy Lane Santa Vanishes With Family Of 4

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Santa Claus won't come to Portland's Candy Lane this year. Kenneth Martin — who plays the role at the annual neighborhood Christmas celebration—has vanished.

He and his family left home the morning of Sunday, Dec. 7, to get Christmas greens for their home, and have not been heard from since.

Papers and personal articles of a family with three young daughters still are scattered around in ordinary Sunday morning confusion at the Martin home.

But none of the giant candy canes which gave the neighborhood its holiday name — Candy Lane—are up this year.

"We just don't have the heart to put up the decorations Martin made," said Mrs. Elmer Reiley, a neighbor.

The Martins, Ken, 4; his wife, Barbara Jean, 48; and their three daughters, Barbara, 14, Virginia, 13, and Sue, 11, left home in their car two weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Evans visited the Martins that Sunday morning, and were told the Martins were going out for the day. Later, Mrs. Calvin E. Welch, of Portland, called and invited the Martins over for dinner.

Mrs. Martin said she was sorry, but the family was going out to look for greenery.

The Martins were an outdoors family, and no one thought anything of it until the next day when Martin failed to show up for a business appointment.

Sheriffs from five counties organized searches.

Two helicopters and several planes looked from the air. Skin divers searched a lake.

Gradually, all clues were discounted. On Dec. 15, the official search was called off.

A $500 reward for information leading to the Martins has been offered.

Clackamas County Sheriff Joe Shobe said his office discounted the possibilities of foul play, but Martin's bank was checked on the theory he might have been forced to write some checks for ransom. None have been. A close check is being kept on the gasoline company with which he had a credit card. No purchases have been made on it.

The Martins' only son, Don, 28, a Marine veteran and a graduate student at Columbia University in New York, stood by to come to Portland if he could be of help.

But along Candy Lane, Mrs. Elmer Reiley and her neighbors remember earlier Christmases when Ken Martin dressed up in his Santa suit and went to the homes of children on Christmas Eve.

"Their eyes would shine," said Mrs. Reiley.

LAUNCH BIGGEST SATELLITE — The Air Force ICBM Atlas missile is fired from launching pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla. Later, President Eisenhower announced that the "entire vehicle is in orbit" around the earth, making it the largest satellite yet launched. His statement said the missile weighed between 8,700 and 8,800 pounds. This far outweighs Russia's Sputnik III which weighed 2,925 pounds.

Raphael Xmas Story Told To Chapin Club

Mrs. Carlton Schumacher was hostess at the Christmas meeting of the Chapin Women's Town and Country Club, Tuesday, December 16. Assisting were: Mrs. James Henderson, Mrs. Andrew Detmer, and Mrs. Harlan Hamilton. The officers of the Morgan County Federation of Women's Clubs were special guests.

Decorations were in the holiday theme and as members arrived gifts for "forgotten patients" at the State Hospital were placed under the tree.

A cordial welcome was extended by the president, Mrs. Paul Blakeman. She then gave an inspiring message telling of the origin of the hymn, "I Would Be True." A young man, a missionary in a remote part of China, could not buy a Christmas present for his mother so he wrote a poem as a gift. It was so lovely that she had it published and music was written for it.

The pledge to the Flag was led by Mrs. Luther Brockhouse. Mrs. Delbert Fricke led the club collect. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. Delbert Fricke, treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Roy Schone. Roll call was answered by 23 members and 6 guests giving a verse from a Christmas card. County officers were presented to the Club: Mrs. L. L. Edlen, president, Mrs. Norman Marshall, vice president; Mrs. J. Allen Biggs, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Virgil Wegehoft, secretary.

Board Meeting Report

Mrs. Marshall gave an interesting and informative report of the recent 20th District Board meeting held in Jacksonville, Tuesday, December 9th. Mrs. Edlen brought greetings to the club expressing her appreciation for the opportunity of visiting the club and appreciation for the cooperation given her by county officers.

Mrs. Walter Uhnken announced June as cookie month for the boys at Lincoln Lodge. Mrs. Charles Williams led the group in singing "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" and "Silent Night," Mrs. Uhnken at the piano.

Mrs. Neva Norris, pastor of the Chapin Christian Church, was introduced by Mrs. Fred Lakamp. Mrs. Norris beautifully gave the modern Christmas classic, "Raphael, The Herald Angel," by Meade Hudson and David Appel.

Raphael was the choir master in the Heavens. He assembled and trained all the choirs of heaven to sing of the birth of the Son of God. After that he went into seclusion for 19 centuries because he felt he had failed in his work. At long last he observed the celebration of Christ's birthday. He was happy when he saw how his music of the glad tidings had lived through the ages.

The meeting closed with the club prayer led by Mrs. Walter Uhnken. A social hour followed. Holiday refreshments were served from the tea table with Mrs. L. L. Edlen pouring and Mrs. Blakeman cutting servings from the iced sandwich loaf.

Guests other than the county officers were: Mrs. Neva Norris, Mrs. Barnard Camm of Franklin, Janet Williams and JoEllen Joy.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Francis Meier, January 20th.

Another letter was an invitation to Open House by Morgan County Health Department and Visiting Nurses. Eva Daniels reported on the presentation of an electrical game to be given to the crippled children's room.

The surprise of the evening was a long distance call from Mrs. Lecie Crawford, the chapter advisor, who is spending the winter at Sarasota, Fla. Another Florida call from Everglades came in a bit later as Esther Ingoglia sent a cheery Christmas greeting.

Three tables of cards were at play during the social hour with prizes being awarded to Margaret Fitzpatrick, Kathleen Long, and Alvahlee McCarthy.

After very delicious refreshments the hostess distributed gifts from beneath a sparkling white flocked Christmas tree. These gifts revealed the mystery pals.

Mrs. John Marvin Finch

Carol Hembrough United In Marriage With John Marvin Finch December 14

Carol Kay Hembrough, daughter of Laurence Hembrough, south of the city, and Specialist Fourth Class John Marvin Finch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Finch, Winchester route three, were married Sunday afternoon, December fourteen, at Central Christian church.

Reverend John Patterson performed the double ring ceremony. Baskets of white glads with carnations, fern and palms decorated the altar of the church where white tapers burned in candelabra.

Mrs. Harland Mason was soloist for the numbers "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Robert Wegehoft at the organ who used the traditional wedding marches.

Miss Linda Lebkuecher of Jacksonville was maid of honor and Miss Nadeane Sooy, Springfield, and Miss Martha Thomason, Chapin, bridesmaids.

Cathy Long, small cousin of the bride, was flower girl and Danny Ray Hembrough, a nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Albert Wilson was best man and James Hembrough, brother of the bride, and Richard Hoots were groomsmen. Ushers were Richard Hembrough, another brother of the bride, Francis Finch, cousin of the groom, Dale Wooldridge and Laurence Hamel.

Candles at the altar were lighted before the ceremony by Miss Hannah Haneline and Miss Carolyn Cline. Guests were registered by Miss Barbara Scott.

Bride In White

The bride wore a traditional wedding gown of imported lace and nylon tulle. The closely fitting bodice was designed with long sleeves tapering to points over the hands and the neckline was cut Sabrina fashion. Seed pearls and sequins adorned the bodice of the gown and the apron effect of the skirt which was floor length in rows on rows of ruffled tulle.

The bride's veil of nylon illusion fell from a headdress of pearls and sequins and she carried an arrangement of white carnations.

The attendants were gowned in fall shades of velvets, street length and princess lines with scoop cut necklines, and carried colonial bouquets.

Miss Lebkuecher wore apricot and carried yellow carnations tied with bronze and yellow ribbon.

Miss Sooy wore gold and carried yellow carnations tied with gold ribbon. Miss Thomason was in avacado and carried yellow carnations tied with a darker green ribbon.

The little flower girl wore apricot crystalette taffeta with a headdress in matching velvet. She carried a basket of yellow rosepetals and wore a white carnation corsage.

Miss Haneline and Miss Cline were in red velvet, made identical to gowns worn by the bride's attendants. They wore corsages of white carnations.

Mrs. Laurence Hembrough wore for her stepdaughter's wedding blue crepe with black accessories, white feathered hat and pink carnations. The groom's mother wore royal blue wool jersey with black accessories and pink carnations.

Receive at Church Hall

A reception in Fellowship Hall followed the church ceremony. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Raymond Hardy, served the wedding cake, a four tiered creation trimmed with yellow rosebuds. Green tinted fruit punch, yellow and white mints and nutmeats were also served with Mrs. Richard Hembrough, Mrs. James Hembrough, Mrs. Henry Finch, Mrs. James Angelo, Mrs. Leonard Whewell, and Mrs. Walter McEvers assisting.

Mrs. Harland Chute, Miss Betty Hembrough and Miss Barbara Scott were at the gift table.

When the couple left for a wedding trip in southern states the bride was wearing a blue sheath with black accessories and the corsage taken from her wedding bouquet. Since their return they are staying at the home of the groom's parents until he leaves in January for his military base in Germany. Mrs. Finch will join him in March.

The bride graduated in 1957 from Jacksonville High School and the groom in 1954. Mrs. Finch graduated from Tennessee Temple College Secretarial Science department, Chattanooga, Tenn. in June of 1958.

Guests attended from Chicago, Springfield, Pearl, Greenfield, Winchester, Canton, Murrayville nd Versailles.

December 27, 2:00 p.m. was the date set to have a meeting to plan the meal for the Annual Farm Bureau meeting and to plan the program for the next year.

Talent And Courage Triumph Over Polio

LORRAINE HUBER: "It takes a great deal of time, just to get a drawing made."

NEW YORK—(NEA)—To judge from the crowds and subsequent sales, Lorraine Huber's one-man show of water colors and pen-and-ink drawings was a great success. But by any standard, the show was a mighty triumph.

Lorraine Huber has been almost completely paralyzed by polio for 27 of her 31 years.

"I can't work too long on my paintings," she said. "A half hour at a time is about the best I've been able to manage. I get awfully tired."

It was easy to see what energy she had to use. Her father pushed her wheel chair to the table and with a fearful effort she raised her hand from her lap to the table top.

"It takes a great deal of time," she said, sketching a tree on the back of an envelope, "just to get a drawing made."

Her mother reached over and raised Lorraine's right arm, showing a thick callous below the young artist's elbow.

"She has to keep her arm on the table when she works," Mrs. Huber said. "She doesn't have the control necessary to work at an easel."

Even without the control or the stamina to work for extended time, Lorraine Huber's pen-and ink drawings shows a fine detail that most of us could never manage.

"I seldom have to discard a wash or a painting because of a false start or a mistake," Lorraine said. "Most of the work I throw away is unacceptable in the late states. Not because of smears. Just because I don't like it."

Oils, however, are almost impossible. They don't dry quickly and Lorraine's arm often and involuntarily smears the paint.

She has no set procedure of work. Sometimes she will make sketches of the scenes she wants to paint. Sometimes she will work from a color photograph that she projects onto a small screen. And sometimes she will paint directly at the scene.

"I designed a table top," her father said, "that clamps onto her wheel chair. She puts her palette and paper right there and goes to work."

Most of her work was inspired by buildings and landscapes in New England or the southern states, places she has seen on automobile trips with her parents.

"I don't work in New York City," she said. "You set up here and in no time you are surrounded by people who stand behind you and tell you they don't like it, or they would do it differently."

Lorraine has been sketching, drawing and painting as long as she can remember—which is as long as she has been paralyzed. Her formal art training began in 1941 with home instruction from Mrs. Irving Mahl, an art teacher with the New York Board of Education who would make the trip to the Huber home in Forest Hills.

In 1945 she enrolled in the Art Career School in Manhattan. Her father, a New York City fireman, would drive her to school and then carry her up two flights to the studio.

"I'd model for the students," he said, "or take a few lessons myself. I've got a little talent; it runs in our family. Of course, I stayed there because of Lorraine. I was always afraid of fire breaking out and no way for her to get out. It's an occupational disease of mine."

In 1952 Lorraine finished a two-year commercial art course and has been painting on her own. While most of her work has been hung by her parents, relatives and friends, several of her spot drawings have been used by a children's book publisher.

Her first one-man show, held in the library of Bellevue Medical Center's Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation — where Lorraine is an out-patient —was set up by the art committee chairman, Mrs. Robert Haas.

"I don't think Mrs. Haas or the Institute were just being nice," Lorraine said. "And I don't think the people who bought paintings were just being nice either. I think by now I can tell who's being nice and who's being sincere in giving me encouragement with my art."

Hospital Benefit Tea At Rockwood Home

Members of the Winchester unit of Our Saviour's Hospital Auxiliary held a Holiday Benefit Tea on December eleven at the Homer Rockwood residence in Winchester. From the Tea table guests enjoyed coffee or fruit punch with an elaborate choice of cake, white, fudge, angel food, fruit cake and many others, mints and nutmeats.

Mrs. Florence Campbell, also member of the Winchester Unit, entertained throughout the afternoon with Christmas music on a Hammond organ she provided for the occasion.

Home Bureau Activities

Mrs. Milton Birdsell entertained the Arnold Unit of the Morgan-Scott Home Bureau at her home Wednesday, Dec. 17. A potluck dinner was served at 12:30 p.m. Mrs. Elmer Roegge led the group in singing.

Mrs. Theodore Birdsell reported on a recent craft lesson she had taken. Displaying items to make and various patterns, she offered to help anyone who wished to use them.

Mrs. Jess Bostick had charge of the Christmas party. Contests were enjoyed and gifts from under the large Christmas tree were exchanged. The chairman, Mrs. Hilding Mattson, held a brief business meeting.

The lesson on holiday foods was given by Mrs. Arthur Hicks and Mrs. Hilding Mattson. They demonstrated several dishes and samples were passed around. Among them was a sleigh which they baked and filled with cookies.

Roll call was answered by naming the best liked Christmas food.

Social Agencies Check Good Will Packages

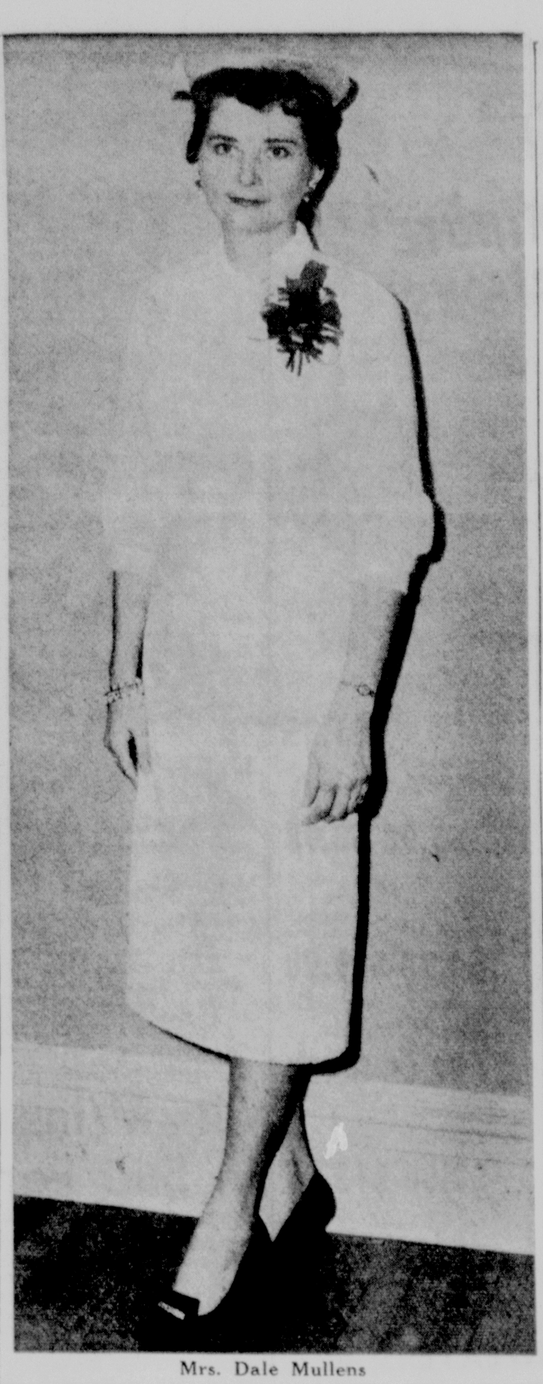

Representatives of the three social agencies, working with Elliott State Bank personnel in distribution of the Christmas gift packages of new clothing for children being left by Morgan residents under the Good Will Tree at the bank, make a necessary preliminary check of gifts so far received. The gigantic job of distribution is made easier by the information attached to each gift stating whether for boy or girl, what the package contains and the size. Listing the gifts accordingly are, left to right, Gilbert Todd, Elliott State Bank; Major Henri Servais, Salvation Army; Erwin Aufdenkamp, Illinois Public Aid, and from Morgan County Health Department, Boneta Prior and Gerrie Lou Taylor.

With a goal of 400 packages, so each needy child in the community through 14 years of age may receive a gift, about half that number had reached the Bank Saturday. Because of the time involved, distribution will start early in the week. Packages will be received at the bank through Wednesday, Dec. 24th.

DOUBLE LIFE—Sweeping new fashion fad this winter are tights. Girls on the campus have used them to produce an entirely new "uniform"—based on comfort and the proposition that no woman need freeze to death between classes. City Wins First Round In Suit For Injunction

A battery of attorneys representing both sides presented arguments for more than three hours Friday afternoon in Morgan county circuit court on a motion made by the Illinois Power Co., asking that a temporary injunction be issued against the City of Jacksonville prohibiting the construction of electrical service to the Jacksonville Country Club until such time as a full hearing of the case on the merits could be held.

This motion was part of an overall suit aimed at stopping the city in its effort to expand power facilities outside the city limits from building a feeder line from Springfield.

Judge Creel Douglass handed down the decision which denied the request for the temporary injunction on grounds that no irreparable injury would be sustained by the Illinois Power Co. Actual construction of the line to supply electricity to the Country Club had been started prior to the time the original suit was filed.

Only Injunction Argued

Only the temporary injunction portion of the suit was heard Friday. Another part of the suit will be heard early in January.

Judge Douglass further ruled in favor of the Illinois Power Co. in its request to delay consideration of a motion by the city to make a party defendant the firm of Anderson, Clayton & Co., and a petition by the City of Springfield for leave to intervene in the suit. These matters will be heard by the court early in January.

Attorneys representing the City of Jacksonville were Robinson, Foreman, Rammelkamp, Bradney, & Hall. City Attorney Bruce Thomson assisted Orville Foreman, special counsel for the city.

Representing the Illinois Power Co. were the firms of Dallstream, Schiff, Hardin, Waite & Dorschel of Chicago, and Bellatti, Fay & Bellatti of Jacksonville.

Attorneys representing the City of Springfield were on hand during the arguments. The City of Springfield holds a contract with the City of Jacksonville for power service scheduled to start as soon as the feeder line is completed. City Attorney W. Sheehan and Donald Sanborn represented the City of Springfield at the hearing on the motions.

Rev. La Vern Justis, pastor, gave the devotions. Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Kesinger retiring presidents, were presented with two pieces of silver. A gift exchange was enjoyed and Ralph Griswold, newly elected president, announced the January meeting would be in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ricks and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hanlin.

Employ Guidance Instructor For Carrollton Unit

CARROLLTON — Mrs. George Vinyard of White Hall has been employed to do testing and give guidance service to the students of the Carrollton Community Unit High School, according to an announcement made Thursday from the school. Mrs. Vinyard is well qualified in this field and will be at the high school two days each week during the second semester.

Mrs. Vinyard was employed by the Board of Education of the school who also approved a summer school course in typing for any pupil from the 7th grade up who wishes to enroll. The class must have 30 and cannot have over 35 pupils. The class will be in session two hours each day for eight weeks and will carry ½ to 1 unit of credit depending upon the standards met by the student. Since school funds cannot be used to conduct a summer program, a tuition fee of $10 will be charged which is payable when students enroll. Enrollments will be accepted any time after January 5.

One of the reasons the course is being offered is to give students who want typing for personal use a chance to get it without interferring with other subjects and also to permit students to take typing earlier in order that they might use it throughout high school.

Sentenced To 100 Days At Farm

A sentence of one hundred days at the Illinois State Farm at Vandalia was imposed on Robert Lee Flynn of Alexander by Judge John B. Wright in Morgan county court Friday, where the defendant recently pleaded guilty to driving while under influence of liquor.

Flynn's request for probation was denied, in view of a series of past arrests. He also was ordered to pay court costs.

Illini Hospital Drive Passes Half Way Mark

PITTSFIELD—Earl G. Zimmerman, equipment fund chairman for the Illini Community Hospital drive which is trying to raise $40,000 to purchase equipment for the new addition to the hospital, says the total raised is $21,695.60. Not quite half the solicitors have completed their reports. It is hoped this will be completed within the next week. To date there have been ten gifts received to furnish rooms completely.

These gifts were from Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kiser, Mr. Clay Rush, Mrs. Frank Aber, Miss Lucille and Rayburn Bauer, Mrs. Harry Higbee, the D. B. Gray Co., the Pittsfield Rotary Club, the Farmers State Bank of Pittsfield, and the First National Bank of Pittsfield. There has been one gift to furnish a room given anonymously.

Bronze plaques acknowledging these gifts will be placed on the doors of the rooms furnished by these gifts. The work on the addition is progressing favorably. The heating system was turned on for the first time on Monday and it is expected that the plasterers will be able to begin their work within the next day or two.

In addition to the plasterers, the elevator men are on the job installing the elevators. The ceiling men are installing the metal rods to which the acoustical ceiling will be affixed, and the sheet metal men and insulators are completing their phase of the work. All the work generally is being accomplished at a satisfactory rate of speed and should be finished by the middle of March deadline.

Alleged Gas Thief Nabbed Near Pump

An alert hired hand and a companion called the county jail about 9:15 Friday night and said, "Send someone to pick up a gas thief and take your time—he won't go far."

When deputies arrived at the Harry Doolin farm, west of Woodson, both the hired man and a companion had a loaded shotgun leveled at 17-year-old Nelson Burnette who gave his address as Winchester.

Deputies Robert Grogan and Dean Colwell conducted an investigation at the scene. They reported that unusual losses of gas had been noted before and that the two men turned off all lights at the house and sat in wait. Burnette reportedly drove his auto to the gas pump and filled his tank three-fourths full before they turned the lights on and ordered him to stand still. The gas hose was still in the auto when deputies arrived.

Officers said Burnette is not believed to be the only one to have visited the pump recently. Further investigation is being made into the theft by the sheriff's office.

Burnette was held for Scott county authorities. He is on probation in that county and will be returned for violation of the terms of his probation.

Four fines were assessed for overparking.

A special meeting of the board of trustees will be held at the hospital Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for the purpose of awarding the contract for the addition.

The complicated evaluation of the many phases of construction will be finalized before the Sunday meeting and presented to the board of trustees in resolution form.

MARA WAS WHITE

NEW YORK (AP)—The tab on his lapel said "Jack Mara, Football Giants," but he actually was "Jack White, Baseball Yankees." When football scout Jack Lavelle succumbed to a heart attack, Mara, president of the football Giants, asked White to attend Look's football party to meet Buddy Dial who was being honored.

Dial, star end for the Rice Owls, had been drafted the previous week by the football Giants. The San Francisco 49ers, for whom White is a scout, were out of the running for the National Football crown so White did the Giants a favor by telling Dial how good the Giants would be in 1959.

Virginia Methodists Dedicate New Organ At Special Services

VIRGINIA—The Virginia Methodist church will remember the date December 14, 1958, as a milestone in the history of the church.

The dedication of the new Wicks organ, chancel furnishing and redecoration of the sanctuary, culminated long months of planning and effort. The interest and support of the entire membership was gratifying to various officers and committees.

The Rev. A. Ray Grummon, of Decatur, was the speaker for the morning worship service when he used the subject "The Singing of the Soul." The Rev. Charles A. Bennett, pastor of the Virginia church, read messages from former pastors. Formal presentation of the new furnishings was made by James R. Fox, chairman of the organ committee, with acceptance by Franklin Collins, president of Board of Trustees.

An offertory solo was given by Henry George McDonald and the special anthem by the choir, directed by Mrs. John Schaeffer. Mrs. Lyle Turner, church organist, played the accompaniment and beautiful organ selections throughout the service. Lovely floral decorations of white chrysanthemums were the gifts of Mr. and Mrs. William Huffman and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pugh, and Riemans, of Jacksonville, through Mrs. Betty Hays.

Springfield Organist Plays

At 2:30 p.m., a capacity audience assembled to hear an organ recital by Franklin E. Perkins, of Springfield. He was presented by Glen Herzberger, president of the Official Board. Mr. Perkins is an outstanding musician, both in instrumental and vocal work.

The well chosen program included sacred music, concert numbers by Bach and Handel and Christmas selections. They showed to advantage the wide scope and magnitude of the new instrument. Combined with the artistry of the organist, much interest was added by descriptive remarks interspersed throughout. Rev. Charles A. Bennett pronounced the benediction.

Social Hour Follows

The members of the WSCS were hostesses during a social hour following the program and greeted many guests from surrounding towns. Mrs. Sam Hardwick arranged the beautifully appointed table at which Christmas cookies and coffee were served. Mrs. Roy Anderson and Mrs. Frank Bruno poured.

Mrs. Jesse Wilhite, president of WSCS, expresses her appreciation to those donating flowers and to the following men who served as ushers: Ted Harrison, B. W. Peebles, Lee Huffman, Franklin Collins, Oran Stanley, W. R. Hierman. Mrs. William Kreig and Mrs. Elmer Webster were in charge of registration and about 500 names were entered during the two services of the day.

ENDEARING TERMS

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Some folks thought it a bit unusual when a doctor kept calling a patient in an emergency ward here "darling." He was only trying to keep a husky apple picker, Wellington Darling, still enough to sew up a four-inch gash in his head.

Holiday Spirit Sparks Illinois College Formals, Parties

The Phi Alpha Christmas formal in Phi Hall was the scene where Bill Grove, Don Stewart, and Larry Larsen were dancing with the Phi guests of the evening.

In Baxter Hall on Monday evening for the annual Christmas dinner, everyone was engrossed with the food.

Miss Ruth York (back to camera), Earle Miller, Mrs. Edward Hopper, and Mrs. George LaDue make selections from among the delicacies prepared for the faculty Christmas party.

Caught by your photographer when Mrs. L. Vernon Caine served as hostess to the women's societies on the Illinois College campus were l. to r.: (seated) Mrs. L. Vernon Caine, Jean Stewart of Jacksonville, Beth Krohn of Hinsdale, Mrs. Ernest G. Hildner, Jr., Barbara Hitt of Jacksonville, and Marion Kohashi of Honolulu, Hawaii. Standing were Jeannine Easley of Jacksonville, Olive Brown of Cranston, Rhode Island, and Carole McNamara of Jacksonville.

Pre-Christmas Activities Highlight Illinois College Social Calendar Last Week

The Christmas season received full recognition on the Illinois College campus. Parties and programs celebrating the event of Christmas were held by many different groups, clubs, and organizations on the Hilltop.

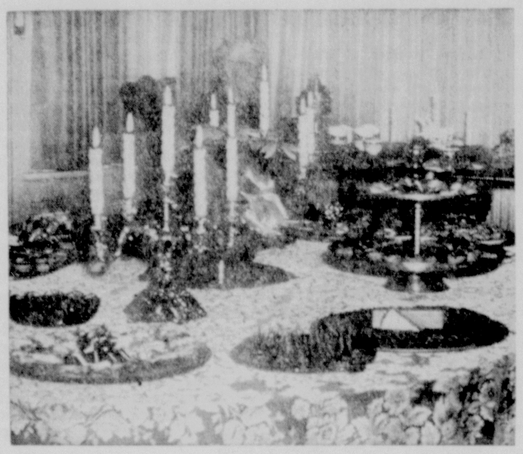

Last Thursday evening in Barnes House, home of President and Mrs. L. Vernon Caine, the president's wife was hostess to the college women for a Christmas party and informal literary meeting. A member of each of the women's literary societies presented a portion of the literary program.

Barnes House was again the scene of Christmas festivities the following night, when members of the I. C. faculty gathered for their annual Christmas party. The evening's entertainment included music by a chorus of professors and wives. Lee Morgan, Instructor in Speech and Director of Drama, presented a reading and Mrs. Louise Bruyn, wife of Professor Severyn Bruyn of the Department of Sociology, gave an interpretive dance of the song "The Twelve Days of Christmas."

The men's literary societies were next to observe the season. On Saturday night, both upper and lower Beecher Hall were decorated and prepared to receive the members of Sigma Pi and Phi Alpha for their annual Christmas parties and formal dances. Santa Claus even took note of the occasion by taking time off from his seasonal duties to visit Sigma Pi.

The members of Gamma Nu men's literary society were entertained the same evening with a Christmas party at the home of Leo O'Brien, 1605 Mound avenue.

The Christmas spirit is not limited only to members of the faculty and student body of Illinois College, however. Sunday afternoon the members of the Illinois College Association of Women and Alpha Phi Omega, the national service fraternity, were hosts to a group of children from Jacksonville at a Christmas party in the Student Union. Milk, cookies, and candy were served, and Santa Claus again agreed to be present and deliver gifts to the children. The afternoon ended around the Christmas tree with the telling fo Christmas stories and the singing of carols.

The festive board as it appeared to Illinois College faculty members at Barnes House for the annual faculty Christmas party. Behind the candles, Mrs. Jeannette Capps Rammelkamp awaits the requests for coffee.

Monday evening the entire college community was invited to the annual Christmas dinner at Baxter Hall, the college dining hall. William Laube, manager of Baxter Hall, estimated that there were 285 present at the banquet. A portion of the Illinois College Choir presented the festive cantata "Christmas Is Coming."

Later in the week students in all parts of the United States began the mass exodus from college to home for the Christmas vacation. From the Hilltop campus here in Jacksonville students are travelling by bus, train, plane, automobile, and "shank's mare" to such widely separated spots as Massachusetts, Michigan, Alabama, New Mexico, and California. Most of the Illinois College students left on Friday, with a few going home Thursday evening. Some students in the Jacksonville area did not depart until Saturday morning, but all were leaving to further celebrate the Christmas season already started on the Illinois College campus.

Christmas is one of the great events for the children, as these happy faces testify following the Sunday Christmas Party in the Student Union. Carolyn Marsh of Waverly and Genie Carnahan of Freeport are getting the youngsters started toward home.

ATTACK ANDERSON

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Unbeaten Army could attack three ways during the 1958 football season—the running of Captain Pete Dawkins and Bob Anderson and the passing arm of quarterback Joe Caldwell.

In the Navy game before 120,000 fans, Coach Red Blaik picked Anderson. All Andy did was become the star of the game by scoring 14 points in the 22-6 victory. Of Army's 28 first-down plays, Anderson carried the ball 17 times. He gained 72 of his 92 yards on first-down plays.

"I've had to live for 12 months with the results of the 1957 Navy game," said Anderson. "I feel a lot better now because we won."

Shapely Fashions For Resort Wear

These Are Wearable Empire Styles

Going on cruise ships and to sunny winter vacation spots are beautiful, shapely dresses like these. Designed to flatter, not conceal, the feminine figure, these designs are done in pure silk or linen by Oleg Cassini. Empire line appears in modified version (left) in dress of turquoise linen with satin ribbon defining bodice and waistline. The sheath with high waistline (center) is done in Italian silk; the colors are white, royal and pumpkin. Velvet ribbon is inserted at bustline. A third interpretation of the high waistline appears in this dress (right), a citrus yellow silk with bodice of re-embroidered ribbon lace.

NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Girls, they're going to let us look like women for a change. Empire or not, we've got our waistlines back and curves are apparent again.

Most New York designers show the Empire line in modified versions for resort wear. This means that the line is indicated but not exaggerated. It also means that dresses handled in this fashion are highly wearable, as dresses should be.

This Empire look is achieved in many ways: with thin lacings above the midriff; with curved belts, bands and buttons.

While the silhoutte remains slim it is also rounded, which is to say curvy. And high, sculptured bodices are used in combination with beautiful necklines. The waistline is well-defined in these Empire sheath dresses.

Part of this new and daring movement in the direction of letting women look like women is a tendency to colors that are flattering rather than shocking. Soft greens, turquoise, a whole family of creamy beiges, and citrus yellow are all intended to do the most for sun-kissed skins.

Many thin, textured fabrics play an important role in these resort collections. There are lightweight wool knits, slubbed silks, nubby wool tweeds, soft silk-and-wool blends and vivid printed silks.

Coffee Punctuates Busy Schedule—

Turkish Diva Admits She Still Gets Frightened

BL ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — An opera star who blames her offstage tirades on artistic temperament is probably just acting out a dramatic excuse dreamed up by her press agent. Chances are the real cause of her turbulent behavior is a simple case of nerves.

Turkis soprano Leyla Gencer declares: "Opera is one of the most satisfying but most difficult professions in the world. It's impossible not to be nervous in this profession."

The raven-haired prima donna, who's winding up her third singing tour of the United States, says that an opera star is always worried whether she will be liked by the audience and music critics. She explains that this uncertainty always makes a star extremely tense. "Every performance is just like taking an important examination," she declares.

It's this constant pressure that Mme. Gencer blames for the tantrums that often shower a singer like Maria Callas with more publicity than her artistic talents. The tempestuous Brooklyn-born diva made headlines recently when she was fired by both the Metropolitan and La Scala operas.

An example of the extreme pressures that an opera star must undergo occurred when the Turkish soprano was once called on to replace Miss Callas who had canceled an appearance in San Francisco. Mme. Gencer explains that she had never performed in that particular opera and had to learn the entire score in a week.

The Turkish singer admits that she is nervous every time she walks on stage.

Soprano Leyla Gencer

She explains that before each performance she tries to soothe her nerves by drinking plenty of hot tea or coffee. But while on stage, she says, that she must constantly remind herself to remain calm.

Mme. Gencer admits that occasionally her tenseness reaches the breaking point. But the resulting explosions are always timed so they won't go off during the show. Usually they erupt during rehearsals when she lets off steam by tearing up her singing script.

Off the job, however, she reacts with amazing coolness to situations that would make the average person a candidate for an ulcer. For instance, she is famous among her colleagues for losing money.

In one month she lost three pay checks worth a small fortune. Baffled friends say that she reacted to the loss with the nonchalance of a millionaire who accidentally drops a nickel into a storm sewer. But Mme. Gencer calmly explains, "There are much more important things to worry about than money." Friends find this attitude even more amazing since her husband is a Turkish bank manager.

Mme. Gencer credits her husband with much of her singing success. She explains that he's the one who urged her to become an opera star in the first place. And he did it after they were married.

"I have a very nice husband," she says. "He's exceptional."

Mme. Gencer studied voice at the Istanbul Conservatory from 1946 to 1949, making her debut in Ankara in 1950.

Since then she has sung her way across nearly a dozen nations, proving that—nerves or not—she has the ability to hold audiences in the palm of her hand.

The other hand holds a cup of coffee.

NETTING A PROFIT

UNLIKE MANY FISHERMEN, Mrs. Mary Bowman of Miami Beach, Fla., doesn't go after the big fish, but prefers the small fry. A mother of four, she nets tiny bait fish and sells them—fifty cents for as many as you want. Working from dawn to dusk, she lures fish into her net by scattering wet bread on the surface. She often comes out with a profit of $15. The "Bait Lady," as she is known at South Beach fishing pier, doesn't forget her own family. She generally brings home some "eating fish" caught with rod and reel in free moments. Here are some photos of a typical working day.

Mrs. Bowman does all of her work without help.

Leaning over the pier, she drops wet bread into her net.

After hauling in her catch, she transfers it to bait tank.

At the end of a 12-hour day, she cleans her fish.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — A good shipping demand and somewhat smaller supplies maintained steady to firm butcher hog prices most of this week.

On Friday, offerings dropped far below expectations and prices advanced as much as 50 cents a hundredweight with the top going to $19.35, the highest in more than a month.

Buyers continued their preference for weights under 220 lbs which were in scarce supply except on Tuesday and on most days they paid as much as $3 a hundredweight more for 200 pounders than for the 300 lb weights.

The slaughter steer supply for the week was about 8 per cent less than last week but it included about 500 head held over for Monday's market. A few loads again were unsold this week.

Offerings were lighter weights than last week's run which was the heaviest average for any week of record at 1,198 lbs. Buyer resistance to offerings over 1,300 lbs held throughout the week. Weights over 1,400 lbs moved out at prices around $3 under those for the 900-1,025 lb range on a grade-for-grade basis.

Sheep were in slightly larger supply than last week but there were rather sizable carryovers from early sessions and lamb prices at the week's downturn hit new three-year lows.

Slaughter lamb offerings were mostly wooled kinds. Local packers were active buyers at prices 50 cents to $1 lower.

WORLD PEACE STILL EISENHOWER'S NO. 1 GOAL, INTEREST

It boils down to the President being much more absorbed in one phase of his job — the hunt for elusive peace — than he is in domestic programs.

An aide estimates that in the last couple of years Eisenhower on most days has devoted perhaps 75 per cent of his working hours to international problems — atomic weapons control, for example, and such crises as those in the Middle East, the Far East and Berlin.

Certainly the 68-year-old President is not going to change in any dramatic fashion in the next two years.

However, he is keenly aware of being the first president to be barred from a third term, which he said he wouldn't accept anyway because of his age. The bar, set up during President Truman's term, stemmed from objections to the four terms of President Roosevelt.

Eisenhower is aware more specifically of predictions that because he is barred from another term he can't expect to be very effectual in the next 24 months — in dealings with the heavily Democratic new Congress, in world affairs, in every manner.

GRAINS LOSE 4TH STRAIGHT WEEK

By GIL MAYO
AP Business News Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — A small amount of export business this week slowed but failed to halt the general downward trend of grain futures prices through their fourth week. On Friday, the July and September wheat contracts hit new lows for the season.

The setbacks in wheat and corn ran to a cent or more a bushel while the few scattered gains included only two, both in rye, of a cent or more.

Most of the bearishness was attributed to the government's final 1958 crop report which showed yields of most major grains to be even larger than the already record highs.

Brokers said the increases would not have had such a depressing influence on the market if the earlier report on movement of grains into government loan had been more in line with trade expectations. But all those figures were disappointingly small and suggested, they said, that producers may be holding the stocks against the possibility of rising prices.

However, so long as huge amounts of grains remain in positions from which they can move into commercial channels quickly they continue to be a deterrent to any sustained rallies.

Wheat closed ¼ - 1¼ cents a bushel lower than a week ago, March $1.96½-⅝; corn ⅝ lower to ¼ higher, March old type contract $1.14⅜ - ½; oats ⅝ - 1¼ lower March 65¼; rye unchanged to 1⅛ higher, March $1.31-30⅞, and soybeans ½ higher to ⅛ lower, January $2.16¾.

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—An epoch-making week of big news saw the stock market ring up its third straight advance and its best rise in five weeks.

The proposed 3-for-1 stock split and dividend boost for American Telephone was a great milestone for Wall Street and brought joy to the hearts of 1,625,000 stockholders, America's biggest family of corporate owners.

AT&T was up 23½ on the week to 223½. Its alltime high way 310¼ in 1929.

Almost singlehandedly, AT&T pulled the stock market average to a record high on Wednesday, the day the news broke, and helped to inspire another rise to a market summit on Thursday.

The action by AT&T directors inspired traders and investors to surmise that the same thing could happen to other high-priced blue chips and these got quite a play.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $3.00 to $209.90 on the week. This was 20 cents below the latest record of $210.10 reached on Thursday.

Friday saw the week's only market decline, an odd accompaniment to the stupendous news that America had launched a 4½-ton satellite into space. The same Wall Street that was "Sputniked" a year ago by Russian success in this field apparently saw no reason to celebrate America's achievement.

Corporate bonds advanced on larger demand this week but U. S. government obligations slipped lower on very light turnover.

Utilities, foreign bonds and industrials led the corporate rise. Investment quality issues and rails declined.

Trading mounted to $34,850,000 par value on the New York Stock Exchange from $32,377,500 the previous week and $27,813,500 for the corresponding week a year ago.

STRIKES TIE UP TWO BIG AIRLINES

Eastern shutdown as well as a tieup of Trans World Airlines by a walkout of Machinists. The TWA strike since has been settled.

Another crippling effect of the current troubles involved extra heavy loads of Christmas mails. Much of this normally would move on planes of the two lines.

Ticket agents of the struck airlines worked tirelessly to get accommodations for passengers on the other carriers.

The air carriers still in operation added all the extra planes available but simply could not begin to handle the crush.

American's 1,500 pilots and 19,500 other employes were idled by the strike. The line has 195 planes and serves 26 states and 77 cities.

Its pilots contend their current pay scale, ranging from $400 to $1,602 monthly, is lower than that of other lines. A company spokesman said the top pay would jump to $2,334 under a company offer.

The company claimed that an hour before the strike deadline the union renewed a demand for a 75-hour work month instead of 85 hours for pilots on jet craft. Negotiations long were bogged down over company insistence that a contract over both jet and piston-engine planes.

A jurisdictional dispute between over who should handle engineer work on jet airlines also was reported to have a bearing on the situation.

ATLAS RECEIVES, TRANSMITS MESSAGE BACK TO EARTH

to the south, to return again Sunday afternoon. Overnight, the satellite will carry the latest message on its tape, for more tests on Sunday.

Transmission of the President's Christmas message in teletypewriter signals, and another coded transmission had marked the first successful relay of such signals through an orbiting relay station.

The achievement thus became the first pioneering step toward development of a space relay communications system which could be used by the military services on a global basis.

It might also pave the way for worldwide television transmissions.

The round trip through space of the teletypewriter code messages transmitted by radio followed an only partial successful attempt to repeat Friday's experiment of "triggering" the President' recorded voice from the satellite.

The experiment was begun as the four-ton Atlas swung over the area of the California station of the satellite communications system at approximately 3:29 p.m. EST.

The satellite was "interrogated" by radio signal—that is, a command was sent up for its electronic apparatus to start broadcasting the President's voice message which had been stored in the vehicle on tape before the Atlas was launched Thursday night from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The message was triggered, but only "fair reception" resulted. Immediately, the technicians decided to try something else.

They sent up—in the form of radioed teletypewriter code signals—a message reading:

"This is the USASRDL (U. S. Army Signal Research and Development Laboratory) satellite tracking station at Prado Dam Basin, Corona, Calif., transmitting to the satellite."

President Eisenhower's "peace on earth" Christmas message, also in teletypewriter code, was then transmitted.

The Eisenhower message follows:

"This is the President of the United States speaking.

"Through the marvels of scientific advance, my voice is coming to you from a satellite traveling in outer space.

"My message is a simple one. Through this unique means I convey to you and to all mankind America's wish for peace on earth and good will toward men everywhere."

The Defense Department said signals of both these messages, after direct relay from the satellite and without any time lapse for storing within the satellite, were received by a listening post station at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas, "clearly with only two short fades."

"The other stations in Arizona and Georgia received some signals, the quality of which have not yet been determined," the department added.

The experiment was done on the 27th pass of the big satellite around the world at its high stepping speed of 17,000 miles an hour.

Officials said the teletypewriter code system used in the experiment is the same as that employed in transmission of teletype messages by radio.

An operator sits at an instrument resembling an oversized typewriter and punches out on a keyboard the text of a statement or message. The words appear on a tape in the form of punched holes.

The tape is fed into a device connected with a radio transmitter, and the message is broadcast through the air in the form of radio signals. At a receiving station, the radio signals are reconverted to punched holes on a tape. This is fed into a teletypewriter machine which produces a product in typewritten form.

Already the mistletoe missile, as some people are calling it, has whizzed about a half-million miles around the world. It is expected to stay up long enough to broadcast a New Year's message from the President.

Missing Coats Returned After Two County Search

Turnkey Wayne Carter at the Morgan County Jail was busy Saturday evening rounding-up the owners of five coats, reported as stolen from two taverns late Friday evening.

Art Schneider and Howard Davidson reported to the sheriff's office shortly before noon Saturday that several customers had complained of missing coats believed to have been stolen the night before. One of those missing a coat thought he recognized a young man from Roodhouse.

Sheriff Staley Keller notified Greene County Sheriff Leonard Stone of the missing coats and asked his cooperation in the matter. Late Saturday afternoon, Sheriff Stone called that he had found the boys and the missing coats and had both in custody. Deputy Harold Wright drove to Roodhouse to retrieve the coats and returned them to this city.

Four expensive topcoats and a suit coat were returned to the owners Saturday night. No damage was reported to the coats. Sheriff Keller said charges would not be pressed against the alleged vandals.

Churches, Civic Groups Present Religious Parade

Fifteen floats in a pageant depicting the birth of Christ passed in review through the downtown area of the city shortly after 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Saturday's pageant marks the third annual event sponsored by the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce Associated Merchants in cooperation with the Jacksonville Ministerial Association.

The religious emphasis upon the spiritual aspects of the Christmas season proved to be a traffic-stopper in the downtown business district as crowds lined the streets to view the colorful floats.

The parade formed beside Grace Methodist church at 1:30 p.m. and moved to College Avenue, then to South Main, around the square and down West State to Church Street. Many of the participants riding on the floats were happy to receive hot coffee and other refreshments provided by the Chamber of Commerce after the parade in the YMCA building. Members of the Jaycees served the group. The weather man must have smiled on the pageant as the line of floats moved through the parade route bathed in sunshine. A brisk, cold wind provided a "cool" ride for those on the floats.

Each of the floats depicted a portion of the Christmas story and the birth of Christ. Boy Scouts carried signs of identification for each float over the parade route. Chairman for the parade project was Donald Fiedler. Parade marshals were Ed Lemmermann and Norman Kramer.

RUSSIANS CAN PASS

BOSTON (AP)— Lynn Patrick, general manager of the Boston Bruins, offers some enlightening information on why the Russian hockey players are good passers.

Patrick, who went to Russia last season, says the Russians use No. 3 sticks. Thus, with the lower lie, the stick is extended further from the body, making for smoother passes. American hockey players use No. 5, 6 and 7 lie sticks which brings the blade closer to the body and causes many passes to be slapped.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico—(NEA)—Traffic en route to El Comandante, eight miles east of San Juan, was remindful of that in Rome, where they once threw people to the lions but now make them cross the street.

El Comandante is a stunning, modern mile race track built two years ago at a cost of a little more than $5 million.

We were at once impressed by the class of horses—lively sons and daughters of such renowned runners and sires as Bimelech, Shut Out, Battlefield, Your Host, My Request, Arctic Prince, Phalanx, Roman, Polynesian, War Jeep, Provocative, etc. It is immediately evident that El Comandante is no last resort for old beaten-up plugs.

There is an interesting story here in connection with the medium-sized 10-year-old bay stallion, Battle Morn, sire of Warhead, which closed out his three-year-old season winning the Jerome, Discovery, Manhattan and Roamer Stakes in New York and finishing second in the Lawrence Realization, in addition to other fine performances, to swell his earnings to $166,219.

* * *

Battle Morn best illustrates how quickly Puerto Rican breeders caught on. He also is shining evidence that the San Juan Racing Association is interested in something other than the pari-mutuel handle.

Jorge Castro, who has a 300-acre dairy farm in the grazing land of Salinas, on the south coast of Puerto Rico, purchased Battle Morn, a son of Blenheim II-Good Morning, she by Sir Gallahad II, from E. K. Thomas for $3,500 at the Keeneland Fall Sales of a year ago. After breeding Battle Morn to 16 of his mares, Castro has just sold the stallion to the San Juan Racing Association for $75,000. He could have had twice that amount had he elected to let the stallion return to Kentucky.

When Battle Morn's get started popping down in front, you see, an American syndicate was formed to purchase the stallion and return him to Kentucky. That's when the San Juan Racing Association stepped in to give the improvement of the Puerto Rican breed a touch of reality. Battle Neck and Any Morn are other three-year-olds which drew attention to Battle Morn breeding.

* * *

Jorge Castro, a former attorney and a friendly little man of 39, is the biggest of 15 Puerto Rican breeders with four stallions and 42 broodmares. Puerto Rican horsemen invested more than $100,000 in yearlings and broodmares at the Keeneland Sales the past fall.

The San Juan Racing Association comprises 4,000 stockholders, 200 of them Puerto Ricans. It's a sound franchise and no other track can be built on the Island. Races are held on Wednesday, Friday and Sunday throughout the year, so there are 156 days.

Wagering at the track is of the usual pari-mutuel type with totalisator equipment, except that the fifth and sixth races comprise the daily double. There are seven races, four for home owned or bred and three for foreign horses.

* * *

El Comandante benefits from the cinco-seis, or five-six pool. No fewer than 314 agencies throughout the Island sell pool cards on which thousands of players try to pick six winners from the second through the seventh race. If you play a papeleta, you are allowed to pick one horse in each race and pay only 25 cents for the entire card. A cuadro is a multiple pool wager, the player paying 25 cents for each combination.

Those who pick six winners divide 70 per cent of the pool. Those who hit five split the remaining 30. If no one picks six, the pay-off is on five and four, or four and three, and so on, but there must be winners every day. Sums as high as $37,000 have been won for 25 cents. Payoffs of several thousand dollars are quite common.

Pool cards are brought or flown to the track before the racing program starts and are sorted and the totals compiled by a sizable roomful of electronic equipment.

The average daily mutuel handle at El Comandante is $165,000 with $80,000 more wagered in the pool, which does not affect odds. The track does considerably better than all right with 15 per cent of the handle and 28½ per cent of the daily double and the pool.

JHS WRESTLERS LOSE TO ROXANA

ROXANA—Visiting Jacksonville dropped its second match in four starts here Friday night by a close decision, 27-25. Coach Tom Carmody gave six untried wrestlers their first taste of prep competition and several fared well.

Crimsons winning by pins were Ronnie Ward, Fred Pigott, Darrell Willner, and Clinton Dennis. Gene Wells was held to a 4-4 draw and Perry Roberts captured a decision.

SHORT VISIT

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — World Featherweight Champion Hogan (Kid) Bassey arrived Friday from the United States and will spend Christmas with his wife and two children.

"But I won't be here long," the Nigerian-born fighter said. "I plan to return to America in mid-January, probably to defend my title against Davey Moore."

Bassey won all three of his fights on his recent American tour.

Jones Indicates This Is His Last Year As Cup Boss

By WILL GRIMSLEY

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Perry Jones Sunday indicated this first year will be his last as U.S. Davis Cup captain as he planned mop-up operations in the interzone finals and pointed his team for the Challenge Round.

Tired and worn out from the trying job, the 70-year-old Los Angeles tennis veteran Alex Olmedo and Barry MacKay against Italy in the meaningless singles matches Sunday. Olmedo and Ham Richardson clinched the best-of-five interzone final in Saturday's doubles match.

Olmedo, the Peruvian from the University of Southern California, and Richardson, the U.S. ace, gained the decisive 3-0 edge by beating Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola 7-9, 6-4, 13-11, 7-5 in a rugged, three-hour match.

MacKay, the big Yank from Dayton, Ohio, who lost an opening singles berth to Olmedo, goes into action Sunday as a substitute for Richardson, who hustled off to Brisbane to get acclimatized to the sub-tropical heat for the challenge test against Australia Dec. 29-31.

MacKay will play Pietrangeli while Olmedo faces Sirola.

It was after the doubles match that Jones plopped himself on a dressing room bench and volunteered the information that he does not plan to return as Davis Cup captain next year. He replaced Bill Talbert last February.

"I have spent nine months preparing for this campaign," Jones said. "I feel after the Australian matches I will have fulfilled my obligation. I do not expect to be back next year."

Later, however, Jones toned down his statement. But many felt he had been sincere in saying this was his swan song.

"I did not mean my statement as it sounded," he said. "I meant that it would be presumptuous for me to figure on being captain next year. The captain is appointed from year to year, and my job is not complete here. So how I think about next year?"

The American performance in the doubles was not enough to frighten the Aussies, particularly since Richardson appeared weary. But there was one bright feature—Olmedo's superlative performance after a shaky though winning Davis Cup debut in the singles.

Friday Night Scores

Local fans witnessed anything but a basketball game Friday night in the JHS Bowl as the Crimsons came from behind to edge Lanphier on Merritt Norvell's free throw, 53-52, in the first Central Conference test of the season for both clubs.

Time had elapsed when Norvell sank his game-winning point on a one and one attempt. He missed his second try but Jacksonville was home with its fifth decision against two setbacks.

It wasn't what a fan would call an exciting game although it was nip and tuck all the way with never more than eight points separating the two teams. Play was too ragged and for the most part, the game got entirely out of hand. It was a difficult contest to work and the officials had their work cut out for them as play was rough from the outset to the final horn.

Jacksonville found itself fighting back as a result of seven misplead passes in the initial stanza. The Crimsons went 2:54 without a score toward the end of the first frame and trailed after eight minutes of play, 13-8.

The Lions, who suffered their third loss in five games, maintained anywhere from a five-to-eight-point lead in the second chapter and managed a 31-25 lead at halftime.

JHS' full-court press worked effectively in the third quarter and enabled the Crimsons to knot the score only once. This came on three straight buckets by Dave Allison and his final tally deadlocked the score at 39-all with 2:58 remaining. The Crimsons couldn't go ahead, however. They trailed by one after three periods, 44-43.

Dave Bone gave JHS its first lead since mid-way through the first quarter on a rebound tip with nine seconds gone to open the final quarter.

The score was tied eight times in the game, four of which came in the final eight minutes. Dave Allison knotted the score, 50-50, with 1:37 left in the game but Lanphier's Gordon White came back with a layup to push the Lions ahead, 52-60.

Thirteen seconds later, Merritt Norvell sank two do-cr-die free throws to even things up once again at 52-52.

The Lions controlled the ball from this point on and called a time-out with 26 seconds left to play. When time was resumed, the Lions continued their stall and with four seconds remaining, Dave Pulliam attempted the tie-breaking shot but he missed and teammate Dale Manning was called for charging in an attempt to get the rebound. The foul was called a split second before the horn sounded to end play.

The only exciting part of the game came when Merritt Norvell stepped to the free throw line with pressure surrounding him. His winning point touched nothing but the bottom of the net and that was the game.

Dave Allison and Dave Bone copped scoring honors for the Chapmanmen with 19 and 17 points respectively. Gordon White and Bill Bokamp had 13 each.

Coach Bob Winstead's Rockets hit on their first field goal attempt and never lost the lead as they downed the visiting Petersburg five 48 to 39 on the Routt floor Friday night.

The contest was fairly close all the way with Petersburg staying within 10 points of the Winstead coached five all the way and occasionally pulled to within three or four points of the leaders.

Freddie Curtis led all scorers with 16 tallies and Rebbe led the losers with 13 points. Fitzpatrick netted 10 points in the winning effort. Both teams played the same type of ball, scoring in splurges and then cooling off for a couple of minutes.

The Rockets led at half time 28 to 21. The Petersburg crew closed the gap at the outset of the second half but Routt gathered its offenses and pulled away again.

The MacMurray College Highlanders took command of the host club, Southern Illinois University of Alton, at the opening gun and coasted to an easy victory Friday night.

Coach Bill Walls' clan led 50 to 31 at the half way mark and were never seriously threatened by the home five. Tom Allen led the Highlanders with 18 tallies and White was high for the losers with 16 points.

Oklahoma State Beats Arizona In Holiday Bowl

By HOWARD BENEDICT

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Striking with deadly deception and blinding speed, Oklahoma State defeated Arizona State at Flagstaff 19-13 in the Holiday Bowl football game Saturday.

The Redmen from Tahlequah drove 94 yards for a touchdown the first time they got the ball. They cashed in on shorter drives in the third and fourth quarters, to win the NAIA championship before 8,628 fans and a national television audience.

Arizona State scored in the third period after trailing 13-0 and tallied again in the final two minutes.

Fancy faking quarterbacks Johnnie Allen and Frankie Phelps engineered Northeastern's drives by masterfully mixing of passes and runs.

Allen and halfbacks Robert Jackson and Dan Smith repeatedly ripped off long gains with the help of the massive Redmen line.

The Oklahoma line also throttled two early scoring threats by Arizona State. The forwards rushed Arizona State's ace passer, Ted Sorich, so effectively he was forced many times to hurry his throws.

Northeastern started its first scoring drive on its own 6 and moved to a touchdown in 17 plays.

The key play in the drive was a 23-yard pass from Allen to Jackson that put the ball on the Lumberjack 2. Allen carried it over from a yard out two plays later.

Smith romped for two 11-yard gains and Jackson a 17-yarder during the march. The touchdown came with four minutes left in the quarter.

After a scoreless second period, Jackson took an Allen pass on the Arizona State 7, and brushed off several opponents and scored. The play covered 14 yards.

FINALLY WINS TROPHY

TOKYO (AP)—Crown Prince Akihito won a trophy Saturday for the first time in his life—in a tennis tournament.

The prince teamed with Miss Takayo Ueno of Waseda University to win the mixed doubles title of the Lawn Tennis Club. They beat Tadaichi Hirakawa, chief English announcer for the wartime shortwave network of the government radio, teamed with Miss Tamiko Kume, 6-3, 0-6, 6-2.

Miss Michiko Shoda, Akihito's commoner fiancee, watched from the sidelines.

Ed Savitsky, Cornell tackle, is the regimental commander of the Army ROTC at the Ithaca, N. Y., school.

Pan American Games Sneaking Up On Chicago

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)— The 1959 Pan American Games are sneaking up rapidly on this sprawling host city.

And although some critics have complained Chicago has dawdled in preparing for this Western Hemisphere athletic carnival next Aug. 27-Sept. 7, organizing chairman Carl Stockholm reported Saturday "this thing will be all tied up awfully soon."

"Our critics have plenty of suggestions," said Stockholm, Chicago businessman and a 1920 Olympic cyclist, "but what we're interested in right now is money.

"As far as groundwork is concerned, we are as far advanced at the same stage as were the first Pan Am Games in Buenos Aires (1951) and the last Games in Mexico City in 1955."

Stockholm, who estimated the Games will cost a minimum of $1,500,000, said a financial drive to raise an initial $500,000 will get under way within the next couple of weeks.

The campaign will include sale of 5,000 "sponsor's tickets" at $5.00 and underwriting by business and industry.

"We hope to get money, too, from program advertising, gate receipts and movie and TV rights," Stockholm said.

Stockholm said the biggest tab would be housing, feeding, entertaining and local transporting of athletes, not to mention a $100,000 item for the concurrent Festival of Americas. Food and lodging is estimated at $10 a day per athlete with $3.00 paid by the athlete's country.

"In Mexico City, it cost $976,000 to run the Pan Am Games, without housing and feeding which the government handled," said Stockholm.

The local transportation is no small problem, with the 23 different sports sites scattered from 35 miles north to 13 miles south and 15 miles west of this Lake Michigan-fronted city.

As for international transportation of Latin America athletes, this is a problem of a different hue, Stockholm envisions a record entry of more than 2,500 athletes and coaches, but only if the once-rejected "Friendship Airlift" is approved by Congress when it reconvenes next month. The airlift is a $300,000 item in a $500,000 Pan Am bill.

"Some countries would like to enter all events, but local monetary situations prevent it," said Stockholm. "We're not begging for them, but it would be a fine thing for us to offer help where needed.

"I think our government should be in the picture solidly on this. The whole Pan-American Games could be run for the cost of one of those missiles they're shooting at the moon. And, believe me, that would create more good will and lessen the danger of war more than hitting the moon will do."

Stockholm said a recent unofficial check indicated 9 of the expected 23 countries alone will send more than 1,000 representatives. These include Mexico, between 270-275; Argentina, about 200; Canada, between 205-210; Brazil, about 170; Chile, probably 45; Netherlands West Indies, 35-38, and Puerto Rico, "a big delegation."

The University of Chicago will house the Pan American Village proper, but equestrian and polo competitors will reside at Oak Brook Polo Club west of Chicago and modern pentathlon athletes will live at Great Lakes Naval Training Center north of the city.

John Kimbrough, former Texas Aggie star, ended his collegiate football career with a touchdown in the Cotton Bowl.

Four Teams Hope To Bolster Losing Bowl Records Come Jan. 1

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Mississippi, Louisiana State, Syracuse and California hope to bolster their losing bowl records in post-season football games but only two of the four are favored to get a measure of revenge in the coming classics.

Mississippi and LSU are the choices to win their post-season contests while Syracuse and California are cast once again in the roles of underdogs.

Ole Miss (8-2), ranked 11th, is a six-point favorite over Florida (6-3-1), ranked 14th, in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., next Saturday, Dec. 27 (CBS-TV). Mississippi has a 2-3 record in bowl competition. Florida's record is 1-0.

Louisiana State (10-0), the nation's No. 1 team and only major unbeaten and untied outfit, is rated 16 points over Clemson (8-2) in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans New Year's Day (NBC-TV). LSU has a woeful 1-5-1 bowl record. Clemson is 3-2 in post-season jousts.

Syracuse (8-1), ranked 9th, is a 13 point underdog to Oklahoma's fifth-ranking Sooners (9-1) in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., New Year's Day (CBS-TV).

The Orangemen from upstate New York are 0-2 in bowl games and still wince over the 61-6 shellacking they absorbed from Alabama in the 1953 Orange Bowl. They were nipped 28-27 by Texas Christian in the Dallas Cotton Bowl in 1957.

Oklahoma, on the other hand, has a 6-2 bowl slate, including three straight in the Orange Bowl.

California (7-3), ranked 16th, is the biggest long shot of the bunch. The Golden Bears are rated 18 points behind Iowa's second-ranked Hawkeyes (7-1-1) in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day (NBC-TV). Cal is 2-4-1 in the bowling, all in the Rose Bowl, and has lost in its last three shots. Iowa beat Oregon State 35-19 in 1957 in its one crack at bowl gravy.

In the fifth major bowl, Texas Christian's 10th ranked Horned Frogs (8-2) are favored by seven points over the sixth-ranked, unbeaten but once-tied Air Force Academy Falcons (9-0-1). They clash in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day (CBS-TV).

TCU has a 4-4 bowl record. This is the first post-season contest for the baby of the service institutions.

This one is a clash of the Martins. Abe Martin coaches TCU. Ben Martin is the Air Force coach. Their only common foe this season was Iowa. The Falcons tied Iowa, 13-13. TCU lost 17-0.

Herrin, Elgin Shine In Downstate Wins

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Herrin and Elgin shone in downstate Illinois high school basketball victories Friday, boosting their already soaring statewide stock and helping their promising conference outlooks.

At their hands, Centralia and West Aurora suffered setbacks.

Meanwhile, other top - rated teams like Galesburg, Rock Falls, Hinsdale, Thornton of Harvey, Rantoul and Princeton won again.

Herrin's Tigers stood more solidly in its second place state ranking after winning its seventh straight game 72-65 from previously unstopped Centralia, ranked fourth. The two high - caliber teams will meet again in regular January play and possibly in the Centralia holiday tourney.

Playmaker Ken Doughty and 6-6 Gene Turni combined in leading Herrin to a second South Seven League triumph.

Once-beaten Elgin tumbled West Aurora for its first defeat in seven games. Elgin's 63-55 win seemed likely to send its stock up in ratings which showed it fifth and West Aurora third. Both are prominent contenders in the Big Eight loop.

Galesburg's No. 1 Streaks succeeded for the fifth time in as many trials, whipping Monmouth 58-37.

In their seventh consecutive victories, Rock Falls beat DeKalb 62-52; Rinsdale hit Arlington Heights 55-46; Thornton batted Lockport 58-48; and Rantoul defeated Paxton 72-65. The winners are classed sixth to ninth, respectively.

A 10th straight win was pocketed by Princeton at Hall of Spring Valley, 57-49.

Getting an early start in the holiday tourneying, once-stopped Springfield in the Quincy meet walloped Cahokia 72-23.

Streator, rated just behind Princeton and Springfield, smacked Marquette of Ottawa 69-47 in rebounding from a loss to LaSalle-Peru earlier this week. West Rockford reversed Freeport 58-44.

Slow-starting Moline surprised Rock Island 58-53 and East Moline went to Iowa to overcome Davenport 61-48.

Alton staggered Edwardsville 68-54. Alton meets Roxana tonight. Once-beaten Collinsville topped East St. Louis 50-39. In East St. Louis, Lincoln overpowered Assumption 57-30.

Pinckneyville's team, beaten only by Centralia, rolled along over Murphysboro 70-55.

Outstanding performers Friday night included Fran Almone of Granville, who scored 51 points in an 80-77 win over Washburn. Almone is averaging 28 points a game.

Ronnie Hood led West Frankfort to a 71-51 victory over Harrisburg, scoring 2 points in the first half and 22 in the last.

Rosiclare double-teamed Roger Suttner, 7-foot scoring ace for Ridgway, holding him to 10 points, a third of his average. Ridgway won 25-21. Suttner's total now for nine consecutive Ridgway wins is 290.

Other teams winning included Mattoon, Newton, Pontiac, Jacksonville, Ottawa, East Peoria, Schlarman of Danville, Danville and Dixon. Paris lost to Feitshans of Springfield 65-46.

Maryland Topples Wake Forest, 68-65

TAD MARYLAND TOPPLES

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Maryland ran up a 12-point lead over Wake Forest in the first half, then hung on doggedly despite a desperate Deacon rally in the last half to win the Atlantic Coast Conference game 68 - 65 before 6,800.

Wake Forest came within two points of tieing the Terps with 40 seconds left of the regionally televised game. But Maryland's Bob McDonald got the rebound from a missed foul and chilled the Deacons' hopes.

Rebounds and the percentage of good shots made the difference. Maryland outplayed Wake Forest off the backboards 47-42 and sank 43 per cent of its floor shots, compared with Wake Forest's 26 for 65, or 40 per cent.

After an even game through the first 12 minutes, the Terrapins shot ahead to grab a 12-point spread shortly before the half. The Deacons closed the gap to 7 points by halftime.

The Terps didn't sink a field goal in the last 8 minutes, 40 seconds of the game. But their defense stayed off the Deacon threat.

The win left Maryland with a 2-4 overall record, and 2-1 in the ACC. Wake Forest has a 3-3 record for the season, 1-2 in the conference.

A varsity end for the Blueboys for the past four seasons, Hembrough also received similar recognition in 1957. Routt takes another stab at a Holiday Tournament starting this Friday and hopes are high for another successful tourney — financially speaking of course. Last year's meet was almost a complete flop as far as showing any profit. The caliber of basketball was outstanding and the second annual affair deserves better backing. Routt doesn't get it, then in all probability the tournament will be dropped.

—— o ——

Six games dot the opening card, three in the afternoon and three in the evening. The Rockets used Illinois College for their meet last year but have moved their site to the JHS Bowl. This could help attendance. Bill Hovey's New Berlin Pretzels are defending champs and are favored to repeat in the four-day playoff. They meet Chapin in their opener Friday night at 6:30 p.m. Three games are on tap for Saturday night and only two are slated for the Monday night semi-finals. Consolation and championship winners will be determined Tuesday night, which will conclude the 13-game tourney.

A similar Holiday tourney will be taking place at Waverly starting Friday afternoon. Riverton is seeded number one with Virden a close second. The host Scotties encounter Virden in Friday night's opener. The finals will be staged Tuesday night. Carrollton, who captured top honors last season, isn't entered this time. The Hawks dropped out to compete in the Illinois Valley tourney. Tri-City and Northwestern are the only new entries.

The first annual Illinois Valley Conference opens Friday night at White Hall in the Maroons' new gymnasium. Alex McKnight's Roodhouse Railroaders have been tabbed favorites with Dick Hamann's Carrollton Hawks holding down second place in the coaches' poll. Virginia, which has staged a Holiday meet of its own for the past several years, has dropped its meet to participate in the loop playoff. Winchester and Carrollton also gave up holiday affiliations to join the loop throng.

Rose Bowl Spells No Luck For West Coast Teams

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Iowa-California duel in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day is the 13th in the pact between the Big Ten and the Pacific Coast Conference.

The consensus is that 13 spells no luck for California, just as it has for the coast representatives in the famous bowl in every year but one.

Year after year, the coast has been primed for an upset. But the only one that developed was when Southern California edged out Wisconsin 7-0 in 1953.

Iowa, undisputed champion of the Big Ten, beaten only by Ohio State but handed a surprising tie by the Air Force Cadets, has impressed visitors permitted to view the Hawkeye workouts since the team arrived last Wednesday.

Coach Forest Evashevski of the Hawkeyes says he definitely does not underestimate California and scorns the 18-point favoritism bestowed on his team.

Evashevski and the Hawks were here two years ago and defeated Oregon State, 35-19.

This will be the first trip to the Rose Bowl for California coach Pete Elliott, a Bloomington, Ill., native, and the first for California since its string of three straight heartbreaks under Pappy Waldorf in 1949-50-51.

Kansas State Scores 68-55 Win

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Kansas State, rated No. 3 nationally in The Associated Press basketball poll, scored a 68-55 victory Saturday night, knocking 14th-ranked St. Joseph's of Philadelphia from the list of undefeated teams.

Kansas and once-beaten North Carolina State were matched in the second game of a double-header.

Kansas State, leading 31-30, started fast in the second half and gained control of the contest with sharp ball-hawking, a tough zone defense and timely shooting.

St. Joseph's was the third previously unbeaten team this year to be defeated by Kansas State. The others were California and North Carolina State.

Bob Boozer, 6 feet 8, led Kansas State with 26 points. Bob McNeill paced St. Joseph's with 16.

As usual Boozer got excellent support from playmaker Don Matuszak, who scored 12 points.

The zone defense proved especially tough for St. Joseph's. The Hawks couldn't hit from outside and they couldn't penetrate the zone during the crucial final period. Meanwhile K-State made good use of its scoring chances.

K-State and St. Joseph's have 6-1 records.

Texas Tech Trips Missouri, 80-70

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Leon Hill's 30-point outburst led Texas Tech's Red Raiders to an 80-70 victory over the University of Missouri Tigers in a nationally televised game here Saturday.

Texas Tech never relinquished the lead after Hill's free throw sent the Southwest Conference club in front 14-13 early in the game.

Tech held a halftime lead of 37-28. Missouri cut the margin to seven points early in the second period, but the Raiders expanded the bulge to 17, 61-44, with nine minutes to go.

Texas Tech, winning its second game in less than 24 hours, upped its record to 5-2. The Tigers of the Big Eight are now 3-4.

Hill amassed his 30 points by clicking on nine of 12 field goal tries and 12 of 13 free throws. He received a standing ovation from the 5,000 fans when he left with more than a minute to play. Cliff Talley of the Tigers scored 22.

WINTER'S HERE BUT DOESN'T START UNTIL 3:40 A.M. MONDAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — It may be a matter of cold comfort but winter officially starts at 3:40 a.m. EST on Monday, Dec. 22.

That was the word Saturday night from the U.S. Naval Observatory, which officially keeps tab on such matters.

Some confusion over the actual start of winter developed during the day. It depended upon which reference work was consulted.

One almanac lists Dec. 21, 3:40 a.m. EST, as the starting time. And a Weather Bureau booklet inadvertently had listed the time as 3:40 p.m. EST, Monday. A bureau spokesman said, however, that was in error and cause for some confusion.

A check with the observatory confirmed that winter will get here Monday morning.

364 POUND, 12-YEAR OLD, IRVIN YOUNG DIES

CHICAGO (AP) — Three-hundred-64-pound Irvin Young, 12, died Saturday.

Young Irvin came down with a bad case of sniffles Thursday, but it was not believed the illness would be fatal. Authorities have ordered an examination of the body to determine the cause of death. But Dr. Lloyd Dubrul of the University of Illinois Medical School said an autopsy may take weeks because of Irvin's size.

Irvin, who has resided in the city since leaving his native Africa in 1948, was the Lincoln Park Zoo's largest gorilla.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Thousands of Harry R. Moore's friends paid their slast respects Saturday at Mt. Sinai Baptist church. The 70-year-old "Kingfish" of the Amos 'n' Andy TV series died last week.

Honorary pallbearers included Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll, the original Amos 'n' Andy of radio.

Torrid 56-Point 2nd Half Carries Illinois Past New York, 83-78

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)— Illinois, trailing by 14 points at the half, poured in 56 points in the last half Saturday to defeat New York University's fancy-passing basketball team 83-78.

With Cal Ramsey hitting 16 of his total 23 points in the first half, NYU piled up a 41-27 margin. Then Roger Taylor touched off an Illinois rally that put the Big Ten team ahead 61-60 with 11 minutes remaining.

In the next five minutes the score was tied five times and the lead changed seven times.

With four minutes left, Al Gosnell's basket and two free throws put the Illini in front 75-72. Tom Sanders made it 75-74, then Illinois gradually pulled ahead on the shooting of Gosnell, Govoner Vaughn and Taylor.

Taylor netted 27 points, 18 in the final half. Vaughn made 19. Sanders pumped in 21 for NYU while Al Barden and Russ Cunningham each added 13.

Illinois hit 33 field goals in 79 shots and the Violets made 23 in 66 attempts.

NYU looked as if it would make the regionally televised game a rout in the first half as Illinois connected on only 3 free throws to 17 for the Violets. Ramsey, a top rebounder and scorer, fouled out in the final 5½ minutes and John Wessels, the Illini's big sophomore center, soon followed.

The victory was Illinois' fourth in five starts. The loss left NYU with a 2-3 record.

Cleveland's Brown, Giants' Conerly Are Key Men In Playoff

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Cleveland's Jimmy Brown and New York's Charley Conerly are the key men in Sunday's pro football playoff game at Yankee Stadium, but the Eastern Conference title may be decided by a field goal.

It was a 49-yard placement by Pat Summerall that gave the Giants their second straight victory over the Browns a week ago and forced the division tie playoff in the National Football League. Either Summerall, still bothered by a sore knee, or Lou (The Toe) Groza of the Browns could win this one.

With a break from the weatherman, who has promised to be more cordial than a week ago, a sellout crowd of over 70,000 will watch the teams battle for the right to meet the Baltimore Colts, Dec. 28, for the league championship. The final game will be played on the home field of Sunday's winner.

The nation's football fans get a look for free as this game will be beamed on network (CBS) television, starting at 2 p.m. (EST) with the New York area blacked out.

All tickets were sold by midweek. Only the 12,000 bleacher seats and about 5,000 standing room tickets remained to be sold Saturday morning at the ball park.

The players get a regular pay day for this special game with the two clubs splitting the gate 50-50 after expenses. The players cut in for 70 per cent of next week's championship gate, however, including a $200,000 TV fee. Thus, big money is hanging in the balance. A winning share in the championship game last year was worth $4,295 and each loser got $2,750.

If Sunday's game is tied at the end of regulation time, it will continue on a sudden-death basis until somebody scores. They will toss a coin to determine who kicks off in the extra time and go on from there, stopping only to change goals if they go 15 minutes without a score.

Despite the two Giants victories (21-17 in Cleveland, Nov. 2, and 13-10 last Sunday in New York), the betting men find little to choose between the two clubs. Because of the sudden death an ending they are quoting no points, but list New York a slight favorite. In men-to-man language it is 11-10 New York.

Coach Paul Brown has hinted his Cleveland team will open up with more passing by Milt Plum. However, the Giants expect more of the same from powerful Jimmy Brown, best ground gainer in league history. They will be alert for passes to Ray Renfro, more ball carrying by Lew Carpenter and the normal accuracy of Groza, who surprisingly missed three of our last week.

The Giants can be expected to lean heavily on Conerly's passes with variations of the successful option on which Frank Clifford threw a touchdown pass a week ago. If the ground isn't frozen solid, they hope for a better running game from Gifford, Alex Webster and Mel Triplett. Since the Giants beat the Browns in the air at Cleveland and scored on a pass in New York, they can be expected to do more probing with the enemy's deep pass defense.

Six Members Of Ohio Family Die In Plane Crash

LAFOLLETTE, Tenn. (AP) — Six members of an Ohio family, flying to Florida for a Christmas holiday, died Saturday when their light, two-engined plane smashed into a jutting rock in the Cumberland Mountains.

The dead were identified as Leo Black, about 37, of Toledo, Ohio; his wife, Donna; their three children, Michael, 10, Kathryn, 8, and Geoffrey, 4; and Mrs. Black's mother, identified as Mrs. Merrill.

They were en route to spend the holidays with Mrs. Black's sister, Mrs. F. C. Valigoski of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Black had reported shortly before the crash that his red-and-white Piper Comanche was icing up and hampered by fog.

Rescuers said he would have cleared the mountain if he had been 300 feet higher. As it was, he nosed into the rock, apparently weighted down by ice.

2-YEAR-OLD BOY DIES FOLLOWING HEART SURGERY

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — A 2-year-old Illinois boy died Saturday evening, about 1½ hours after completion of surgery on his defective heart.

Garfield Wentz Beckstrand, son of the Rev. O. Garfield Beckstrand II and his wife, had heart tetralogy — four separate congenital defects.

Surgery began about 1:30 p.m. and doctors discovered lung complications. There were several obstructions to blood vessels in the child's lungs. These were extensive and could not be repaired. The heart surgery was completed about 5:30 and the child began weakening shortly therafter. He died at 7 p.m.

The boy's father is associate pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church in Rockford. The family lives at 1216 4th Ave.

P.S. — The woman answered without a moment's hestiation.

Butler Upsets Tennessee, 81-66

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)— Tennessee's Volunteers, winners of five straight games and ranked No. 5 nationally in The Associated Press poll, were pulled down Saturday night by Butler University's five-time losers 81-66. Three Vols fouled out trying to solve Butler's play patterns.

Both teams made 25 field goals but Butler converted 31 of 38 free throws to Tennessee's 16 of 24.

Tennessee, loaded with former Indiana high school players, was down only 36-32 at the half. Butler hit 15 of 27 shots from the field and 16 of 20 free throws in the last half to win going away.

The Volunteers' losses on personal fouls included 6-foot-8 Gene Tormohlen from Holland, Ind., who was the most effective shooter against the Indiana team with 19 points.

Eleven players scored for Butler, topped by Bill Scott with 17 points, Ken Pennington 16 and Larry Ramey 11.

Butler, with Pennington the only starter back from last year, lost its first five games before defeating Dartmouth in overtime last Thursday night.

Kidney disease is said to be the fourth ranking killer disease in the United States.

College Briefs

RIPON, Wis. (AP)—Ripon's basketball team broke a five-game losing streak Saturday by defeating the University of Chicago, 62-55.

The visitors were tagged with their third setback against a pair of victories. The Redmen won their second game.

Chicago had a shooting edge from the floor, but Ripon sank 22 of 27 free throws, including nine in a row by Pete Kasson, the game's leading scorer with 17 points.

MACOMB, Ill. (AP) — Tom McGreal calmly converted a pair of free throws after the final gun sounded Saturday night to give Southern Illinois a 94-92 IIAC asketball victory over Western Illinois.

McGreal was fouled by Gene Waibel as the final gun went off.

Western held a 46-45 lead at halftime. Gene Velloff of Southern won scoring honors with 25 points. Western's Grady McCollum had 24.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Cincinnati, the nation's No. 1-ranked basketball team, got a scare Saturday night from the St. Louis Billikens, but the nation's top scorer, Oscar Robertson, with 27 points, pulled the Bearcats through for a 57-50 victory.

First Attempt To Launch Titan War Rocket Fails

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —An Air Force Titan fizzled on the launch pad Saturday on the first attempt ot launch the nation's newest and potentially most powerful war rocket.

A ball of orange fire spurted from the tail of the 90-foot intercontinental ballistic missile—ICBM—just after the countdown reached zero. But the Titan just sat there wreathed in clouds of black smoke.

This was the debut of the first so-called "second generation missiles" being developed by American rocket scientists in an accelerated program aimed at catching and passing the Russians.

An official Air Force announcement said the huge weapon's first-stage propulsion system shut off automatically when a malfunction developed after ignition.

The missilemen described Titan as more "sophisticated" than the Atlas ICBM which stunned the world by shooting into an orbit and becoming America's biggest satellite just two days ago.

The Titan is lighter and less complex in construction than the Atlas, but it is capable of longer range.

Titan's full potential still is a well-kept secret, but the rocket experts believe it could easily match —and perhaps outdo—the Russians who say they fired an ICBM 8,000 miles.

There appeared to be no serious damage to the missile after the engine died. However, it was expected that because of the trouble the missile would receive another time-consuming complete checkout before another launch attempt is made.

The failure to shoot was disheartening to the Martin Aircraft Co. launching crew who had run the missile through a perfect ground engine test four days earlier.

Purdue Triumphs Over S. Dakota

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue's Boilermakers defeated South Dakota's defending NCAA college division basketball champions Saturday night 55-44 in a game that was all speed and no control. Willie Merriweather scored 26 points for the winners.

Purdue led 22-18 after a first half in which the teams took turns bustling down the floor—and missing. The Boilermakers hit nine of 34 field goal attempts during the period, South Dakota only six of 32.

Purdue finally got the ball through the hoop 19 times in 66 shots for .288, South Dakota 15 in 62 for .238.

Each team had only two scorers in double figures. Bob Fehrman supplemented Merriweather's scoring with 10 points. High for South Dakota were Ken Mizerny with 16 points and Luther Turner with 11.

DR. STEVENS, PROMINENT PIANIST, ORGANIST DIES

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — Dr. Robert Waterman Stevens, prominent pianist and organist, died Saturday in a nursing home. He was 86.

A native of Joliet, Ill., Stevens received his musical education and training in Chicago. He made his debut with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra in 1898 at the age of 26.

In his heyday, he was hailed by such masters as Ignace Paderewski and Leopoldy Godowsky as one of the top American pianists and organists.

From 1911-1925 he was director of choirs and organist at the University of Chicago, where he received his doctor of music degree in 1927.

Win Gives Blueboys, McKendree Tourney; M. Scott Hits 39 Points

LEBANON — Illinois College blasted Harris Teachers College of St. Louis right out of the gym here Saturday night in the finals of the McKendree Rotary Tournament. The game was never in doubt and Bill Merris' Blueboys coasted to a one-sided 87-49 triumph.

Mike Scott, who gave a sterling performance, grabbed scoring honors for the game with 39 tallies, 25 of which came in the second half. Mike's torrid pace quickly shot the winners into a 40-point spread and Merris cleared the bench with six minutes left to play.

The tremendous team victory brought I.C. its third straight win in as many nights and its fourth consecutive triumph after taking four losses on the chin at the outset of the season.

The tourney champs displayed a tight defense which kept Harris off guard all night. Carl Moore aided the victory with his control of the defensive boards. And Harris definitely had the overall height advantage. It was Harris' first loss in 10 games.

I.C. doubled Harris in the field goal department, 32-16, and connected 23 times from the free-throw line to the losers' seven.

McKendree won a free-scoring consolation contest from Oakland City College in the curtain raiser, 97-92.

Spartans Breeze Past Nebraska, 80-55, For Fourth Straight Win

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State breezed to its fourth basketball victory in a row against nonconference opposition Saturday night by whipping Nebraska, 80-55.

Although the Spartans weren't looking too sharp, going nearly five minutes at one point in the second half without a basket, they never were in trouble. The score was Michigan State 47, Nebraska 22 at the intermission and kept mounting in the second half.

A tight MSU defense forced Nebraska to try all its shots from the outside. But the Cornhuskers didn't have the necessary marksmanship.

The MSU total was the highest in the series with Nebraska, dating back to 1920. The previous high was a 79-55 decision for MSU in 1956.

Kentucky Garners Tourney Title

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky, the nation's No. 2-ranked ball power, downed 7th ranked West Virginia 97-91 Saturday night in a terrific offensive show in the finals of the Kentucky Invitational basketball tournament.

The Wildcats took command after the first seven minutes. They never trailed thereafter, leading 54-50 at intermission and by 7 to 13 points most of the last half.

Jerry West, West Virginia's All-America candidate, was virtually unstoppable the first half and wound up with 36 points to lead the scoring and set a new tournament record. His main support came from Bob Smith with 17 and Bob Clousson with 15.

For Kentucky, which won its own tournament the fourth time in six years, the scoring leader was Sid Cohen with 23. He was followed by sophomore Bobby Slusher with 19 and Don Mills with 17.

West Virginia, which now has won 7 and lost 2, put the pressure on Kentucky with a fullcourt press and threatened in the closing minutes to catch the Wildcats.

The Kentuckians, however, picked up 10 points at the free throw line in the last four minutes to preserve their lead.

The opening half saw both teams hitting at a fantastic pace. Kentucky bagged 60.5 per cent of its floor attempts and West Virginia 52.8 per cent.

West Virginia won the battle on the backboards, out-rebounding Kentucky 51-38. West Virginia's final shooting mark was a very respectable 49.3 per cent.

Kentucky cooled in the last half and finished with a 47.8 per cent.

The other successful candidates for study at Oxford University in England are Pete Dawkins, of Royal Oak, Mich., All-America halfback from West Point.

Arrest Pacifists Trying To Storm Base In Britain

SWAFFHAM, England (AP — Eighty pacifists tried to storm a base for American missiles near here Saturday. The demonstration fizzled, with 50 arrested and at least 22 of them confined to jail over Christmas.

Police swooped on the marching groups, dragged several men and women through muddy puddles and hauled them off to court.

Magistrates worked into the night to handle charges of obstructing police. At the last count 36 demonstrators had been charged—and 22 of them landed in jail because they refused to promise not to return to the base.

All 36, including a well-known Anglican churchman, the Rev. Michael Scott, were remanded for a hearing Dec. 29. Only those who refused to say they would not return to the base were held in jail. The others were released on bail.

Residents of this Norfolk market town cheered the police and pelted the outside demonstrators from London with rotten tomatoes.

The demonstration was organized by a group calling itself The Direct Action Committee Against Nuclear War. It was the second here within two weeks. Members of the committee tried to stop construction work on Dec. 6. They were driven out of town and warned they risked arrest in attempting further demonstrations.

Michigan Crushes Delaware, 82-58

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan combined balanced scoring and superior rebounding for an easy 82-58 intersectional basketball victory over Delaware Saturday night.

It was the hot scoring and brilliant backboard work of M. C. Burton and the shooting of Terry Miller that got the Wolverines started after a sluggish beginning. Burton tallied 22 points for the night and Miller had 19.

Michigan was stone cold for the opening five minutes as Delaware raced to an 11-4 lead. But when the Wolverines found the range there was no stopping them.

Michigan tallied 21 points while holding Delaware to four over the next 7½ minutes.

Opening a 25-15 bulge, the Wolverines romped the rest of the way and cleared their bench with five minutes left.

Farm Bureau, Co-Ops Report Splendid Year At Meeting Saturday

A year of growth was reported at the 41st annual meeting of the Morgan County Farm Bureau and the 32nd annual meeting of the Service company, which were held Saturday at MacMurray College.

Eighteen directors were chosen to serve on the Farm Bureau board for the coming year. And the members unanimously reelected seven men to serve another year on the Service company board.

During the afternoon Rev. Joseph Hobbs of Manito brought an inspirational message.

The day's program began with Roy E. Nickel of Concord, president of the Farm Bureau, presiding. The secretary, LeRoy T. Smith of Franklin gave his report. This was followed by John W. Chambers, organization director, who briefly discussed the work of the Farm Bureau and the Illinois Agricultural association during the past 12 months.

C. W. Nicholson, general agent of the insurance department, returned a report that showed a most progressive year, with over-the-quota sales in all divisions.

George A. Trull, farm adviser, told of the work of the Extension department and thanked the Farm Bureau "for the abundant support you have given us." His assistant, Robert W. Hayward, Jr., reviewed the activities in 4-H and Rural Youth. During the past year 219 members of 4-H agriculture clubs completed 280 projects. They were led by 22 adult leaders and the Morgan County Rural Youth roster now has a new high of 67 members.

Committee Reports

Four chairmen of Farm Bureau committees gave their reports: B. S. Camm of Franklin on finance; Donald Richardson, Jacksonville, organization; Ralph Ginder, Jacksonville, insurance, and Cary Strang, Murrayville, policy development.

Boyce Moore of Jacksonville, the I.A.A. board member from this district, reported on the American Federation of Farm Bureau's convention held in Boston, Mass. He declared that "The strength in the local Farm Bureaus lies in its financial stability and depth of leadership."

In his message to the assembly President Nickel urged a stronger accent on public relations, which he termed "are now at a low ebb. I believe this to be one of the most unfortunate problems we face today. Let us emphasize the "blessing of abundance" rather than the "curse of surplus."

The new directors were elected by unanimous vote following the report of the nominating committee, which was headed by Harold L. Stewart of Alexander.

A Good Year

After an interlude of organ music by Robert Wegehoft, the annual meeting of Producers Supplies was held. The same 18 men were named to serve as directors of this cooperative, which handles insecticides, vaccines, serums and other items needed by farmers. A patronage dividend of $2,856 was announced.

A report of splendid growth in the Service company during the fiscal year was reported. Sales amounted to $1,288,603, an increase of $180,454 from the year before. Substantial gains were made in all three sections: petroleum products, feed and plant food.

Patronage dividends this year amounted to $65,700, as compared to $41,711 a year ago.

President Presides

Albert Nienhiser of Jacksonville, president of the cooperative, presided. He pointed out that "Your cooperative pays the identical taxes of any other corporation doing similar business" and that "in the past 12 months your company paid $136,114 to taxing agencies, or $443 per working day."

The secretary-treasurer's report was given by Lester E. Martin of Alexander. Management reports were heard from J. D. Bunting, general manager; Ed Ebersohl of the petroleum division and Alfred Enke of the feed and plant food division.

Cecil Patterson, petroleum salesman, received a pin in recognition of 25 years of service with the cooperative and Frank Brockhouse received a five year pin. The other 27 employees of the company were introduced.

The credentials committee consisted of Byron Stewart, Arlo Shumacher and Scott R. Holmes.

Directors Reelected

On recommendation of the nominating committee, which was read by B. S. Kamm, the seven directors of the Service company were chosen to serve for another year. They are Albert Nienhiser and Frank Flynn of Jacksonville, Lester E. Martin, Alexander; Reuel Carpenter, Franklin; Roy Schone and Chester A. Thomason of Chapin, and Clarence Duewer, Waverly.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Waggener, 882 Case avenue, received an ovation when they were introduced. Waggener, of the feed and plant food division, recently won a district sales contest and he and his wife received a week-long, all expense trip to St. Petersburg, Fla.

Slightly more than 580 persons had luncheon at the McClelland dining hall. The invocation was by Rev. Howard W. Campbell, pastor of Berea Christian church.

Harlan Williamson, with Mrs. G. O. Webster at the piano, led a round of spirited group singing.

Jack Hiltebrand, district organization director, presented past president's pins to nine former leaders of the Farm Bureau: Clifton Davis, H. P. Joy, Frank Flynn, Daniel Dietrick, Chester A. Thomason, Harold McDevitt, A. Paul Johnson, Harold Kamm and Boyce Moore.

Welcomed By Mayor

Mayor Robert A. DuBois extended greetings to the group and Wilfrid E. Rice, county superintendent of schools, stressed the importance of farm people and educators working closely together to provide better training for youngsters.

The Pedigo Quartet of Greene county sang several numbers, including a group of spirituals.

The speaker of the day was Rev. Joe Hobbs, who used as his topic, "Is Your Accent Showing?" He stressed that the "freedoms enjoyed by the people of the United States must be regarded as responsibilities, or they can be swept away in a generation." He advised his listeners to stifle intolerance and "to use your talents to the fullest."

Door prizes in the form of gift-wrapped meats were distributed to Jess Petefish, Alexander; Marilyn Shumacher, Mrs. Eugene Nienhiser and Mrs. Roy Schone of Chapin; L. Clyde Cooper, Mrs. James Luster and Mrs. Bob Hayward, Jacksonville; Owen Lowe, Waverly; Mrs. Alma Thady, Murrayville, and Harold McDevitt, Franklin.

The New Directors

Three new directors were elected to the Farm Bureau board.

William Neuman of Waverly succeeds Edward Rhea in Township 13-8; Hugh Norfleet of Alexander succeeds Lloyd Stevens of Pleasant Plains in 16-8 and Gerald Long, rural route 3, succeeds Ralph Ginder in 16-10.

Directors reelected were LeRoy T. Smith, Franklin; Cary Strang, Murrayville; James E. Johnson, Waverly; B. S. Camm, Franklin; Gerald Heaton, rural route 3, Winchester; Charles J. Williamson, rural route 5; Lloyd E. Smith, Alexander; Gilbert L. McQueen, Franklin; Clyde York, rural route 4; Donald Richardson, rural route 2; Charles Williams, Chapin; James Swain, rural route 3; Roy E. RADIO HAMS CAN PICK UP ATLAS SATELLITE MESSAGES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Radio "hams" can pick up broadcasts from the Atlas satellite.

Army Signal Corps experts, who designed the communications system for the satellite, said that radio amateurs, with specially designed receivers, could tune in on transmissions.

But it was pointed out that the expectable zone in which signals could be received is generally along the track of the orbiting satellite over the southern part of the United States. However, under unusual conditions signals might be received by amateurs located to the north of the satellite's path.

The monthly meeting of the Winchester Junior Women's club was opened on a Christmas note Thursday evening, Dec. 18, when Mrs. Robert Coultas gave the invocation before dinner and led the group in the singing of "Jingle Bells." Bull Care

During the off- or non-breeding season, many of us are so busy feeding and caring for the cow herd and young stock that we forget half the herd—the bull. It isn't necessary to keep the bull fat, but he should be kept in a thrifty condition. A bull that has lost a lot of weight this past summer may need five or six pounds of grain daily in addition to a liberal roughage ration. A bull in fair flushing now may be wintered adequately on about 20 pounds of corn silage and 12 to 14 pounds of legume hay daily.

Also, exercise is important to a bull's breeding efficiency and disposition. Avoid close confinement. On the Station, several bulls are run together in a large lot. They work off steam by pushing one another around and rarely become bad tempered.

Using More Roughage

The common fattening ration for steers includes 20 to 30 per cent of roughage. Past tests of fattening rations show that roughage may be carried up to 45 per cent with excellent gain when the roughage hay and concentrate are ground, pelleted and self-fed. This winter three different age groups of steers — 2-year-olds, yearlings and calves—will be fed experimentally on pelleted rations containing from 20 per cent to 100 per cent of hay. We already know that calves will make close to two pounds of gain daily on an all-hay pellet. Will yearlings and 2-year-olds gain at a better rate on the pelleted all-hay ration?

Sheep

Cold weather, snow and the approaching lambing season have pushed the Station ewe flocks into their wintering and lambing quarters. From now until pasture season, the flock will be on a diet of corn silage, leafy legume hay and grain. It is important that the ewes be well fed from now on if they are to have little trouble at lambing time and if they are to milk well.

Un-Iced Water

Very important to flock health is a plentiful, clean and ice-free water supply. The Station flock has this all-important water available from automatic fountains in each shed. Small drinking tanks equipped with float valves are used often enough to keep the water running enough to overcome much of the icing hazard.

Manure Topdress for Pasture

Manure spread ahead of corn doesn't hurt that corn crop—nor will it hurt a pasture as a topdress. At a rate of five tons an acre, manure will furnish the equivalent of 150 pounds ammonium nitrate, 125 pounds of superphosphate and 80 pounds of potash—all worth over $10. Just because manure comes unbagged, don't underestimate its value.

Value Of Government Aid To Agriculture: Was It Worthwhile?

By OVID A. MARTIN
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some farm leaders are coming to the opinion that federal farm-aid programs of the past 25 years—with their outlays of billions of tax dollars—have not been worthwhile after all.

This belief is arising in the minds of some who earlier endorsed and even fought for the programs but who now believe the measures will not serve farm problems.

They are saying, in restrospect, that agriculture and farmers as a whole would be better off now if there had never been federal intervention on the broad scale of the past.

Among those taking this view are leaders of the American Farm Bureau Federation. This big farm organization once was in the forefront of forces pressing for federal aid to agriculture.

Now the federation is leading forces demanding a virtual withdrawal of the government as soon as present farm surpluses are disposed of.

Join Earlier Critics

Of course, there have been some—largely outside of agriculture—who all along have held that government price supports, production controls, farm export subsidies and farm payments offered no sure cure for agriculture's economic ills.

But for influential leaders in agriculture itself to come out and say the programs have been all wrong is a significant development to say the least.

Farm Bureau President Charles M. Schuman candidly put forward his view at his organization's recent convention at Boston. He went unchallenged at the meeting attended by delegates from all 48 states. This was a stand no farm leader would hardly dared to have taken a few years ago.

Those who take this position now say that the farm programs—by holding prices and hence crop-producing incentives higher than otherwise would have prevailed—encouraged agriculture to increase its productive capacity much more rapidly than normally would have been the case over the years.

Shored Up Inefficient

Likewise, they argue, many small and inefficient farms and farmers would have gone out of business had there not been the artificial prices and subsidies of the past quarter century.

In advancing these arguments, Schuman said all these factors have in effect encouraged agriculture to produce at maximum levels rather than adjust to available markets.

This view is similar to that expressed by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson, although the latter has never gone so far as to say agriculture would have been better off if there had never been the federal programs.

But all farm leaders are not ready to go along with Schuman and his associates.

President James B. Patton of the National Farmers Union, for instance, contends that without the programs of the past, the family-type farm as it is known today would not exist. Instead, he says, farming would be in the hands of big corporation-type units.

These two viewpoints will form the opposing poles from which congressional battles over farm legislation may flow next year.

U. I. To Offer Winter Course

URBANA—The eighth annual winter agricultural short course at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture is planned for February 2 to March 13, 1959.

Warren Wessels, short course director, explains that the short course is designed for young men and women who cannot attend college on a regular basis. It brings them up to date on new developments in agriculture and in the modern farm home. Students enrolled in the short course can also enjoy the cultural, social and athletic events on the campus and in the community.

Anyone who is 18 years of age or older may enroll. In the past, ages have ranged from 18 to 65 years, but most participants are between 18 and 23 years.

Courses to be offered this year are: agricultural economics, agricultural engineering, agronomy, animal science, dairy science, home economics, animal hygiene, farm arithmetic and home floriculture.

Wessels estimates that average expenses for the six-week short course range between $190 and $230. This dosn't include costs for travel, clothing or recreation.

Some students will have a chance to get $100 scholarships that will help to pay part of their expenses. The Illinois Bankers association encourages its member banks to award these scholarships to selected students in their areas.

Complete information may be had by writing to Wessels, 104 Mumford Hall, Urbana, Ill.

Dumping Of Rubbish Along Highways Calls For Stiff Penalty

JERSEYVILLE— Sheriff Howard Perdun was called Tuesday morning to investigate the dumping of rubbish in the watercourses of the highways in the Jerseyville vicinity.

The dumping of rubbish along the highways is a misdemeanor and calls for a stiff penalty if the offender is apprehended and found guilty. The practice of disposing of junk and rubbish in this manner has been increasing in the Jerseyville area, and complaints are being received in increasing numbers from rural residents in localities adjacent to the city.

Sheriff Perdun investigated one complaint at the Ruby Miller farm about two miles west of Jerseyville, approximately one mile from the local Westlake Country Club, and found a variety of items that had been unloaded there ranging all the way from tin cans to the carcass of a coon and duck feathers.

At the present time, the City of Jerseyville does not have a city dump, and this has greatly complicated the local situation. The city has made numerous efforts to obtain a dumping grounds, but thus far the municipality has been unable to lease such a premises within a reasonable distance of the locality.

Deputy Sheriff Melvin Leach went to St. Charles Tuesday morning to transport two teen age prisoners from the county jail to the Illinois Reformatory for boys situated at that place.

The two youths taken to the reformatory were involved in the recent burglary at the Robert Miller Confectionery in Grafton.

Gift Delivery Sunday

Delivery of gifts received through the Community Festival of Christmas Giving will be made this coming Sunday at 1:30 p.m., and everyone who is assisting in this phase of the project is asked to be at Cheney Hall back of the P. D. Cheney residence on North State street at that hour.

Chief of Police H. H. Blackorby, Jr., is appointing officers to control the traffic at the site while loading of the gifts is in progress.

The Boy and Girl Scouts, Demolays and members of various civic organizations will assist with the distribution of gifts. William R. Warner, president of the Jerseyville Jaycees, is chairman of the routing of deliveries.

Mrs. Marcus Ryan, originator of this worthy Christmas Giving project, stated Tuesday that more names have been turned in to receive gifts through this plan than ever before, and that cash donations for this purpose are smaller than in former years. Anyone who wishes to make a cash donation within the next few days should contact her immediately in order that the money can be converted into clothing, and other gifts by Sunday. A number of local organizations have not held their December meeting as yet and, therefore, have not been able to vote a contribution which accounts for the shortage in cash this year.

Last year over 293 children were remembered with toys, games and clothing through the Community Festival of Christmas Giving and this number is greatly increased this year.

Mrs. Ryan will send an itemized report of the project in January to organizations donating money for the project.

Altar Society

The Altar Society of St. Francis Xavier's church of which Mrs. Elvin Breitweiser is president, is making plans for a social and business meeting the latter part of January, date to be announced later. The meeting will be in the Knights of Columbus Home.

Seventy women were present for the joint meeting of the Altar Society and the Mothers' Club of the church, held Sunday at the K. of C. Home. Mrs. F. A. Munsterman is president of the latter group.

This was the Christmas party for the two organizations and began with a potluck dinner. Games were played and a gift exchange was enjoyed.

A canned food shower was arranged for the pantries of The Dominican Nuns home, and the Parish House of the church.

4-H Christmas Party

The Jersey County 4-H Federation held its annual Christmas party in the Farm Bureau recreation room in Jerseyville Monday evening. The Federation is composed of two delegates from each of the Ag and Home Ec Clubs in the county and acts as a member policy committee for the planning and execution of general county 4-H activities.

The group went Caroling, visiting the nursing homes and a number of those shut-in, and returned to the Farm Bureau for their Christmas party. The members held a gift exchange and enjoyed various games and dancing. Robert Wetherell, Assistant Farm Adviser and Miss Shirley Dannenmueller, Home Adviser, assisted with the plans.

Demo Women's Party

The Jersey County Democratic Women's Club held its Christmas party Monday evening in conjunction with its regular December meeting held at the home of Mrs. B. L. McDow.

CORN PRICE MAKES QUICK RECOVERY

Bearish Forces May Check Price Rise

Corn prices made a quick recovery from their harvest-time low. The price has risen about to the $1.06 price support level. The recovery came more quickly this year than last, probably because harvest was finished earlier and much more of the corn was storable and thus eligible for price support.

Prices for 1957 crop corn had increased to about $1.25 a bushel by midsummer. Prices of the 1958 may rise from recent levels, but prospective bearish forces are heavier than they were a year ago.

Price Depressants

The supply of corn is much larger than it was a year ago. The crop is estimated at 3.686 million busels, up 8 percent. Carryover of old corn totaled 1.467 million bushels, up 8 percent. Carryover of old corn totaled 1.467 million which increased only 48 million bushels in 1957-58, will swell by perhaps 300 million by next October 1.

The price support levels, $1.06 and $1.36, are 4 cents lower than last year.

Prices of livestock may follow a downward trend in 1959, whereas they rose this past year.

Since the price of corn has risen close to the lower loan level, there is now little inducement to tie up non-compliance corn under price support loans.

Supplies of other feeds are much more abundant in many areas than they were a year ago. The East and South, especially, are better fixed for feed than they were last year. They will be less aggressive buyers than they were a year ago.

Some farmers are holding corn until after the end of 1958 to delay income tax liability for a year. Some of them will be selling after the first of the year.

Business conditions, often a price-making factor in grain markets, have improved during the past six months, but may be no better this winter than they were a year before.

Chapin Gleaners In Charge Of Xmas Decorations

CHAPIN—The Gleaners met at the home of Mrs. Inez Bonds with a covered dish luncheon for the December meeting.

Following the luncheon the program opened by singing Silent Night, followed by prayer by Mrs. Morris.

Miss Reba Willard read the Scripture from Luke 2 1:21. Roll call was answered by members and two guests. Secretary and treasurer's reports were read and approved.

The Gleaners voted to have charge of decorations for the Christmas program Dec. 21st. Offering taken for Leprosy Missions. An offering of $5.67 was sent to American Leprosy Mission.

A trio, Mrs. Anna Delph, Mrs. Neva Morris and Adelaide Brockhouse sang, "O Little Town of Bethlehem." Leah Reams read a Christmas story from Reader's Digest.

Meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

A social hour and gift exchange was enjoyed. Guests were Mrs. Ada Smith, Adelia Hamilton and Hazel McGlasson.

The January meeting will be at the home of Dora Postlewait.

Price-lifters

Hog production is increasing rapidly. Hogs may use 15 percent more corn than they did last year.

The laying flock is 3 or 4 percent larger than it was a year ago, and broiler production is running 10 to 15 percent greater. Next to hogs, poultry is the biggest user of corn.

Many farmers are in a stronger financial position than they were a year ago. Thus they are able to hold their corn longer and sell later than they did last year. Delay in selling would add to early market strength but make later weakness.

Last spring the corn market got a lift when export takings were shifted from CCC stocks to open market supplies. Exports have continued to come from the open market, so early season prices have received support this year.

I.A.A. Buys Site Near Bloomington

The Illinois Agriculture association has elected to buy 52.4 acres of land located on Route 66 northeast of Bloomington as the site for its new headquarters.

The land cost them $1,500 per acre.

William J. Kuhfuss of Mackinaw, president of the I.A.A., said present plans call for a building containing 120,000 square feet. It will be started, he said, in the summer of 1959 and completed in about a year.

The actual move of the association, which is now headquartered at 43 E. Ohio street, Chicago, is scheduled to begin during the latter half of 1960.

A plot of land growing corn continuously for 83 years on the famed University of Illinois Morrow Plots produced a yield of 139 bushels an acre in 1958. This soil has received a manure-lime-phosphate treatment since 1904 and extra nitrogen, phosphate and potash since 1956.

Dairy cows at the University of Illinois produced equally as well on hybrid forage sorghum as on corn silage. However, they did not do so well on common sorghum silage in these tests.

If We Use Force

Firm rejection by the West of Russia's demand that we pull out of West Berlin was of course a foregone conclusion. Still unsettled is how, specifically, we shall meet any possible effort to force us out by blocking our ground routes to the city.

We have said that we will not accept the substitution of East German for Russian control over the access route and the check points 110 miles west of Berlin.

Just as insistently, the Russians say they will hand over this supervision to the East Germans if we refuse to get out and make Berlin a "free city."

If the threatened impasse develops, what then?

The simplest though costliest solution is to go back to the airlift which we used in 1948-49.

There are those, however, who think we should underscore our rights by forcing a ground passage if necessary. That means blasting past check points with tanks.

Russian and East German threats that this would mean World War III are not necessarily genuine. But even if the Communists were as determined as we to prevent the spread of any fighting, the operation would not be easy.

All we have a right to hold is the 110-mile thread of highway leading to Berlin. To take and secure this thin pipeline, surrounded as it is by hostile East German soil, would mean in effect to establish a 220-mile front. The roadway would be subject to attack and sabotage on both sides at any point along its entire length. All the Reds would have to do to make the route temporarily inoperative, if not worse, would be to blow up a few key bridges.

The point is that the ground alternative is a tough one, calling for what would amount to a military campaign. We can forget the idea that all we would have to do is push past the check points and race "home free" to Berlin.

The war that could develop over access to Berlin might prove a limited one. But it would still be a war, and not a mere tempest at the toll booth.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Efrem Zimbalist Jr. is a TV star in a dilemma. He doesn't want a flop, but he doesn't want a hit either.

Zimbalist is the suave private eye who matches wits with Hollywood's underworld on 77 Sunset Strip for ABC Friday nights. The son of the famed musician is also making a name for himself in theatrical films; he scored as Jean Simmons' sympathetic friend in "Home Before Dark."

Therein lies his dilemma.

"I think it's good for me to be doing a TV series now that film production is so low," said the Warner Brothers player. "If I didn't have this, I'd be off salary.

"Naturally, I hope the series is a success. But the thought of my being in it for five to seven years frightens me. I think I'd shoot myself first."

It looks as though he may be in for trouble. Because "77" has been doing very well in the ratings these Friday nights, and the sponsors seem content, Zimbalist could be in for a long run.

When I saw him between scenes, he was wolfing down a sandwich, which comprised his lunch.

"We've been working steadily since the season began," he explained, "and we're still not ahead. We couldn't get any backlog. Sponsor money was tight this year, so we didn't know if we were sold until the last moment. And Warners wasn't willing to shoot more than the pilot until the sale was made."

The studio pulled the wily stunt of making the first show 90 minutes long. Thus, if it didn't sell for TV, it could be sold to theaters. TV claimed it first, and the show won much attention for the novel opener.

Matter of FACT

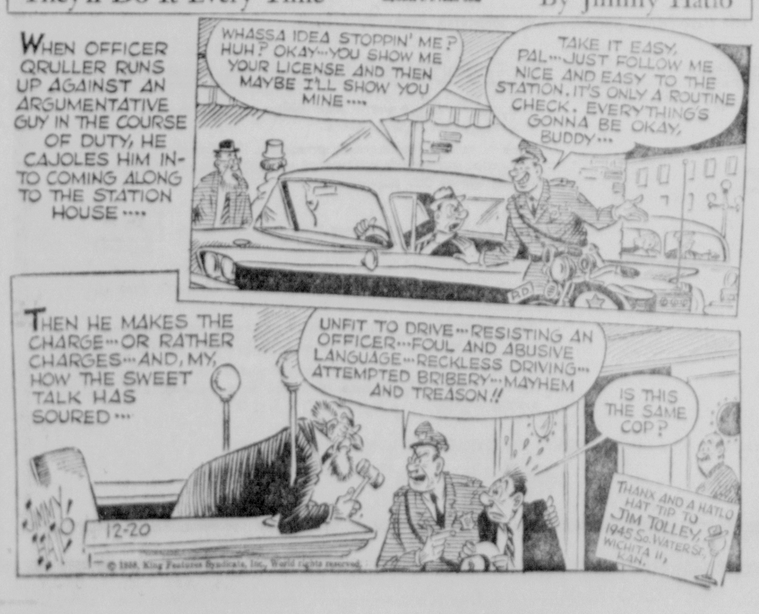

Catapults were the artillery pieces of ancient warfare. Some had a range of half a mile, while others could throw a 60-pound stone with enough force to sink a ship. By the Middle Ages, the secret of making the catapult had been lost. Models, made today, will not fire a stone weighing more than eight pounds.

BY JERRY BENNETT

WASHINGTON—(NEA)— While in town recently for some more of his famous "give 'em hell" politicking, former President Harry Truman took time out to promote a CARE Dollar Day rally and give a lesson in press agentry at the same time.

Instead of just making a brief appearance at the rally, the colorful Democratic leader worked most of one morning helping CARE officials set up displays and take donations. The result was that newspaper photographers clustered around him for almost three hours.

"Those guys are really getting some good shots of you, Mr. Truman," one of the CARE workers remarked.

"I'm not surprised," Truman cracked. "I spent a lot of time while I was in the White House teaching them how."

WHEN THE GUESTS first saw the refreshments at a tea given by Washington socialite Mrs. Robert Guggenheim, they immediately decided to break their diets. On a tray surrounded by small sugar cookies was a gigantic cake covered with thick, luscious white icing.

The gals were slightly shocked, however, when Mrs. Guggenheim served the cookies but made no move to cut the cake. At the end of the party, it was still sitting on the tray completely untouched.

As she was leaving, one of the guests asked Mrs. Guggenheim why she hadn't served all the refreshments. "Since my servant did the shopping," the hostess explained, "I never saw that cake until the party started. It looked so good that I just decided to save it for myself."

BIGGEST SURPRISE at the Mayflower Hotel's annual Big Game Hunters dinner was the food. Instead of the expected elephant meat, the intrepid crack shots were served roast beef and sea food.

As waiters entered the dining room carrying platters loaded with slices of tender beef, one rugged African hunter cracked: "What a relief. That's the first meat I've seen coming in months that I haven't wanted to run from."

SPACE AGE scientists and technicians seem to be plagued with a multitude of little problems and irritations which seldom break into the news. A government research bulletin, just off the press, gives detailed reports on two of these minor crises.

They are "The Efficiency of Young Men Under the Conditions of Moist Heat" and "Accommodative Fatigue in the Aging Radar Observer."

INTERIOR SECRETARY Fred Seaton was startled on his recent 49th birthday to receive a 200-pound cake from the soon-to-be state of Alaska. The only drawback to the gift was that it arrived just as Seaton was about to leave for Hawaii. And there was no place at home or in his office to store the five-foot-wide bakery monstrosity until he returned.

So Mrs. Seaton got a pickup truck, loaded the cake in the back and drove it to Children's Hospital where it was served to the kids for their evening dessert.

WASHINGTON party-goers who have traveled abroad, vote some small signs, scattered throughout France's cognac producing region, as the most impressive advertising that they have even seen.

REMOVING FOOD from the buffet table as a hint to guests that it's time to go home works at every cocktail party except the lavish affair given each year by the Association of American Railroads. This annual wingding is noted for its delicious fried shrimp and oysters and hot pizza hors d'oeuvres.

At the latest party, several guests were still hovering around the buffet table 30 minutes after the food had been carried away. A baffled railroad official decided to find out what was going on and discovered that the people were nibbling the scraps of food that had been dropped on the tablecloth.

Maturity Is Hard Process; Teen-Agers Please Note

Your teen-ager is well on the road to maturity when he—

Admits that the kids whose parents let them do exactly as they please and come in at any hour they choose aren't the "luckiest" kids he knows.

Is willing to face the kidding he knows he'll get in order to be friendly to a teen-ager who is not accepted by his own crowd.

Can say honestly of a teacher, "She's tough, but she's fair."

Doesn't act as though the world is coming to an end when his plans go haywire.

Is willing to save up for something big that he wants.

Now and then says, "It's not worth it," after pricing something he thought he just had to have because the other kids were getting the latest fad.

Says reassuringly when he suspects you are anxious over him, "Don't worry. I'll be careful."

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Until Thursday night's Atlas firing, the past few weeks in Washington have been the dullest in years.

But come January things will be popping on both the congressional and diplomatic fronts.

In the Senate some Northern Democrats and Republicans will start a fight to make it easier to smash a filibuster. This means a quarrel with Southern Democrats, probably a bitter one.

In the House, Southern Democrats will be in another fight: over a committee recommendation to bar an Arkansas segregationist, Dr. Dale Alford of Little Rock, from taking the seat now held by Rep. Brooks Hays (D-A Ark). Alford was elected over Hays by a write-in vote.

Senate Republicans will be having a family battle. A batch of Republicans, who consider themselves more progressive than their present Senate leaders, will try to take over.

The political sharpshooting will get off to a running start in early January when President Eisenhower dumps his State of the Union message in the lap of Congress. This message sets forth his program for 1959.

Democrats will be tearing into this all year. Since Eisenhower insists he wants to keep down spending, his program is bound to be fairly conservative. You can hear the Democrats' beef now: the program doesn't go far enough.

Not long after his State of the Union message, Eisenhower will send Congress his budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1. This is his estimate of how much he thinks the government should spend next year. There'll be sparring over that all year.

Yet all this may seem like small potatoes compared with what happens abroad as the new year unfolds.

It will be up to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to make good on his promise about Berlin, or back down, or make the Western Allies back down.

He's promised to pull Soviet troops out of East Berlin and warned the Allies to get theirs out of West Berlin before June, or else. He was pretty ugly about the else.

But this week the Allies, meeting in Paris, said: We'll take our chance on else. They announced they'd stand firm on not abandoning Berlin. In this they had the urging and blessing of West Germany.

This could — unless one side or the other gets wobbly knees — turn into a nasty situation. It's up to the Russians now to show how far they are willing to go.

The Middle East shouldn't be overlooked in any list of things to come. It's moderately quiet now. It never stays quiet long. At the moment the most likely spot for an explosion looks like Iraq.

The revolt there a few months ago overthrew the government, killed the King, badly weakened Iraq's ties with the West. And Communists there seem to be growing ever stronger.

If the Reds should take over in Iraq, the Soviet Union, without firing a shot, will have made the greatest leap in its history into the Middle East.

It's practically wishful thinking to suppose the Red Chinese will stay quiet indefinitely. They're fairly quiet now. But just a few weeks ago they were jittering the world with their bombardment of Quemoy.

Perhaps, meanwhile, the long journey of one man will help spread oil on the troubled international sea. Anastas I. Mikoyan, second only to Khrushchev in the Soviet leadership, is coming to Washington in the months immediately ahead.

The Russians asked this week for permission for him to come here. The State Department approved. The given reason for his expedition — that he wanted to visit the Soviet ambassador here — looks thin.

Mikoyan's real mission may be as Khrushchev's special envoy to Eisenhower.

Gifts at Christmas Time —A Message for Everyone

BY MARIE DAERR

What shall I give at Christmas that
Will live beyond the glow
Of candleshine, or crimson bulbs
Against December snow?

What will outlast the holly wreath,
The ribbons' satin shine,
The happy carols that are heard
Around the festive pine?

These be my gifts: a hand stretched out
To one who comes to me,
Asking my help. . . . The warming fire
Of ready sympathy. . . .

Encouragement. (The gift seems small,
But from it souls take wing.) . . .
True tolerance for others' views—
A wonder-working thing!

A smile to lift a weary heart
And make a cloud-wrapped day
Suddenly fairer. . . . Then, a song
To smooth a rocky way.

These are my gifts. . . . Oh, let them b
Not only Christmas cheer,
But gifts that I will galdly make
Each day throughout the year!

Q—Under the new Social Security laws, how do I figure my average monthly wage for the purpose of estimating my primary benefit? —L. B. W.

A—As previously, figure your average monthly wage since 1950. You can discard from this calculation up to five years of low or no earnings. You can count all earnings up to $3,600 in each year from 1951 through 1954, up to $4,200 in each year from 1955 through 1958 and up to $4,800 from 1959 on.

Q—I operate a rooming house. Can I qualify for Social Security under the self-employed category?—F. H. Y.

A—If you provide services such as cleaning the rooms, providing linen, preparing meals for lodgers, etc. But merely renting rooms or part of your home is considered rental income and will not qualify you for Social Security benefits. If you think yours may be a borderline case, ask your Social Security office.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

Christmas in 1958

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

The Christmas story is old but ever new. It is the story of the One born in a manger, born to be the Supreme One in the linking of Heaven and earth. But just as the most wonderful of all babies, in all the beauty and richness of the Gospel story, a sort of halo surrounds every babe whether born in a hovel or a palace.

It would be entrancing if one could rest only upon the glory of the Bethlehem story, but the Babe of Bethlehem became the Christ with a message for the world, a message concerning the love of God, that we call the Gospel, a message of salvation.

It would be pleasant to forget all but the Bethlehem story, and think only of the Christ-Child, and the joy to the world in the coming of the Lord. But over Bethlehem looms the shadow of the Cross, and over all the centuries since Bethlehem looms the shadow of a world still neglectful, or hostile, toward the Christ who ought to have brought only joy to the world.

It would be a dark picture if we did not remember that at one of the darkest of all times the Master said "Be of good cheer: I have overcome the world" (John 16: 33).

The words of the Master were vindicated in His Death and Resurrection. But He left to His disciples and followers a great, unfinished task, as He emphasized in the very words in which He spoke of His own overcoming.

It is easy to fall back on Christmas optimism, to think of all that has happened since New Testament times, of Christianity that is world-wide and of the Church that "moves like a mighty army."

But wisdom suggests a more discriminating appraisal of the forces of anti-Christ today in the spirit in which Jesus himself urged a counting of the costs.

It would be a dark picture, if one did not remember the truly good and devout, the lovers of the Lord and their fellowmen, the many more than 7,000 who have not bowed the knee to modern Baals.

It is a time for Christmas to take heart, to remember the words of saints and prophets, and above all the words of the Master, himself. But it is not time for easy optimism or self-congratulation.

Above all, it is not a time to rest in the assurance of statistics. Of course more are joining churches; more are giving more to Christian causes; but the immensity of anti-Christ also increase.

It is a time for appraising all the glory of Christmas, the greatness of the Christian heritage; it is a time, too, for awakening and arousing; for closing ranks for more effective Christian warfare.

The best Christmas gift that you and I can give, acknowledging the gift of Christ, is to give ourselves with renewed consecration and effort to the greatest of all tasks—the winning to Christ and His Kingdom of a world that is still far from won.

Quick-Fix Chicken Casserole

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Here are two good recipes to have on hand for any holiday dinner parties. Very easy to prepare (using canned, frozen or packaged ingredients), they cut preparation time.

Party Chicken Casserole
(Makes 4 servings)

One can condensed cream of chicken soup, 1 1/3 cups water, 1 to 1 1/3 cup finely chopped onion (optional), 1 teaspoon lemon juice (optional), 1 teaspon salt, dash of pepper, 1 1/3 cups (4½-ounce box) packaged precooked rice, 1 package (10 ounces) quick frozen green peas, partially thawed (optional); 1 can chicken, drained; 1 cup grated cheddar cheese, paprika.

Combine soup, water, lemon juice, salt and pepper in a saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring occasionally. Pour about half the soup mixture into a greased 1½ quart casserole. Then, in layers, add the packaged precooked rice (right from the box), the peas, and the chicken. Add remaining soup. Sprinkle with cheese and paprika. Cover and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Cut through mixture with knife or fork after 10 minutes of baking to help distribute soup mixture.

Note: If desired, remove cover after casserole has baked 15 to 17 minutes and place under broiler 3 to 5 minutes to brown the cheese.

Banana Eggnog Pie
(Makes 6 servings)

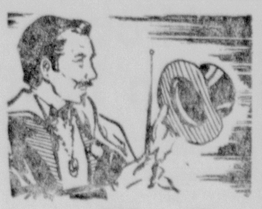

One and one-half cups cold milk, ½ cup cold eggnog, 1 package banana instant pudding mix, 1 baked 8-inch pie shell.

Where Do "MIRACLE DRUGS" Come From?

They don't come out of a magician's hat but they sometimes do come from strange places. An East Indian snake root called Rauwolfia was once used widely in India for everything from treating epilepsy to making sleeping potions. Modern chemists then discovered its true therapeutic effectiveness. Now called Resperine, it is widely used in lowering high blood pressure. This kind of exhaustive research keeps your doctor and our pharmacy well prepared to help you maintain your good health. Each prescription is filled with professional precision at our pharmacy.

1st GRADERS TAKE 'SUGAR PLUM TREE' TO HOSPITAL

Children in Miss Esther Barker's first grade at Jefferson School decided this year to make a Sugar Plum Tree and take it to the Passavant hospital where young patients could help themselves to a holiday treat. Everyone in the class helped in painting the tree white and tying candies to the branches. The silver foil covered base of the Sugar Plum Tree was filled with gay red and white candy canes. Each piece of candy was cello wrapped and nestled in the lower branches was a message telling of the young pupils interest in doing something for others at Christmastime.

All of the pupils rode the school bus to the hospital Wednesday where principal Oliver Buck and Miss Barker carried the tree into the hospital lobby. Five first graders make last minute arrangement of the candies hanging from the branches, left to right, Linda Sue Beard, Dickie Samples, Mike Miner, Marilyn Birdsell and Barbara Kay Smith.

SANTA CLAUS BIRD
By Emma Mae Leonhard

Every year the National Audubon Society provides a significant Christmas card for its members to purchase and to send to their friends, particularly their birding friends.

These cards are always handsome ones and worthy of the best friends at Christmas time. The bird chosen for the design on the card is probably anticipated with as much interest and supposition as is the "man of the year" chosen by "Time Magazine" for its cover.

The Audubon Christmas card for 1958 is a truly handsome one, reflecting a winter mood of soberness and cheer. In the background, portrayed in modern simplicity, are a gray winter sky broken occassionally by a streak of sunglow, a distant dull-green range of forest trees, and a tawny weed patch sifted with unblemished snow.

In the foreground rise several dark brown twigs of the alder with rounding, dark brown heads at the top of each twig. The clusters of seed heads are, in turn, capped with thick fluffs of the same unblemished snow.

On the strongest branch of the alder are perched two Redpolls, little streaked gray-brown birds, each with a bright red cap on his forehead, a black chin, a pink rump and breast. They are both male birds, but so is Santa a man. They wear red caps, and so does Santa.

The Redpolls seem to like best the spruce forest throughout the northern part of North America. During the winter they may wander south into the northern part of our United States. They are usually seen for a short time in the Chicago area and rarely come as far as Springfield.

In Jacksonville, Chapin

On our last year's Christmas bird census, you will recall, we found seven Redpolls feeding in birch trees at Lake Springfield. One Redpoll was also reported as seen in our own Diamond Grove Cemetery.

Two years ago the Onkens in Chapin had Redpolls in their front yard. Wherever they may be, they seem to like the cold and do not mind the snow. And doesn't Santa live in the North except when he visits us during the Christmas season?

The Redpolls are also very active. While they are feeding on the catkins of the birches or the seeds of the alder—and they seem to be eating most of the time—they cling to the branches and hang in every possible position, upside down, or rightside up, sideways, or in any way.

Is there any chimney so narrow or so crooked that Santa can't come down or go up? Even if the chimney is sooty, he doesn't mind. He might even get a sooty black chin from his chimney trip, but who cares?

Jolly Like Santa

As the Redpolls search for the tiny seeds, they are continually twittering, either to themselves or to each other. They seem friendly, and so is Santa a jolly man.

As they fly, they may give forth a series of metallic chirps. Can our imagination hear in them the jingling of Santa's bells on his reindeer?

If we are too old to believe in Santa Claus and see no Santa in the Redpolls, that is our loss. Perhaps when we have the good fortune to see a live Redpoll, we shall change our minds. Maybe even the Audibon Christmas card will help us. Anyway, it can bring us the Christmas cheer, for which we should all be grateful.

Until then we send each one of you a greeting of Christmas cheer.

French Santa Not Like One We Have In U.S.

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—To see what Pere Noel—the French Santa Claus—has in store, a little American girl named Jane visited the Children's Fair in Paris the other day.

Like the thousands of French children who poured into the Grand Palace every day, Jane, nearly 4, found the Salon de L'Enfance nearly as exciting as Christmas itself. For here some 500 exhibitors, chiefly toy makers, spread their wares to tempt children and parents.

"Joyous tumult" is how a director describes the atmosphere of the fair, which includes a circus, trips to the moon, driving tests, playgrounds and of course, Pere Noel himself.

Jane was a little surprised to find that Santa Claus, French style, is tall and thin instead of round and rosy. But she recognized the familiar red suit and long white beard.

Gathered onto Pere Noel's knee, she piped up to ask for "une maison de poupees" (doll's house) and a "patinette" (scooter).

At a stand not far away, Jane found her dream of a doll's house, actually a playhouse, big enough for herself and small brother David, 2½, to scramper into.

Reluctantly quitting the playhouse, both children climbed gleefully into a shiny blue miniature convertible with a real motor and the staggering price of 245,000 francs (nearly $600). Fortunately, Jane's eye was caught by a revolving stand with nylon-haired dolls nearby, but force was needed to eject her little brother from the car.

Holy Innocents Day is celebrated in some churches. It commerates the massacre of the bay babies by Herod. Years ago it was thought that thousands were killed, historians now believe that probably not more than ten or twelve were murdered.

The twenty seventh of December, the great French chemist Louis Pastuer was born.

HERE'S HOW

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Second graders from Dunbar Elementary School visited the Lexington Fire Department in the morning hours.

And, of course, a fire alarm came in at 3:25 p.m., after school was out. Twenty firemen and 11 volunteers rushed to the alarm box. There was no smoke, no fire anywhere.

A fireman directed the tour. He showed them the trucks and the apparatus, explaining how it all worked. And he showed them how to turn in a fire alarm.

Flower Of The Month—

'The Green Holly'

By Emma Mae Leonhard

December is the month of very special things: biting winds, bright stars, Christmas carols, Santa Claus letters, snow men, and Holly wreathes. December is also worthy of a very special flower of the month, and that flower is the Holly.

Yes, we have chosen the Holly as our special December flower.

But, you say, Holly doesn't grow here; and, for that reason we are taking too much liberty. Although there aren't many Holly trees in or near Jacksonville, there are some bearing the characteristic berries.

As I was wandering through my winter garden on that beautiful snowy morning following Thanksgiving Day, my Holly tree commanded the center of interest. Upon each lustrous green leaf rested a fluffy scoop of snow, setting off the bejeweled scarlet berries.

Yes, there stood the three Christmas colors: red, green, and white, announcing themselves at the Thanksgiving season. My garden was keeping up with the coming of Santa to the city and the Christmas decorations around the Square—all for the seeing—even before the Thanksgiving turkey was eaten up and Thanksgiving thanks were forgotten.

There the Holly tree will stand, a thing of beauty through December, with or without its snow-capped leaves. Later the hungry birds may pick and eat the red berries, but I shall not complain; the glossy green foliage armored with needle points will still shine on in the cold sunlight.

Always Green Life

These leaves will fall in the spring but not until the reddish green new leaves will crowd them off the branches. The Holly tree never seems bare; green life is always there. Among the new leaves will bloom the small greenish white flowers that will bring more red berries for the next December and the next Christmas season.

There are many kinds of holly, and holly is rapidly taking a prominent place in gardens throughout our country. I have been praising the American Holly. In the southern part of Illinois below the mouth of the Illinois River grows a deciduous holly in the wild.

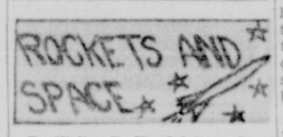

When the leaves drop in the fall, along the entire branches glow the scarlet berries. Every twig is massed with small red holly berries, feed for the wintering birds, including Robins.

Although our American holly in our gardens displays fewer red berries, it is evergreen. It may suffer somewhat during an unusually cold winter, but it seems to be perfectly hardy and stages a strong come-back in the spring. It is at least worth trying.

And during the winter months, particularly December, the strong barbed green leaves bring back to us the famous Shakespeare lines:

"Heigh-ho! Sing heigh-ho! unto the green holly:
Most friendship is feigning most loving mere folly:
Then, heigh-ho, the holly
This life is most jolly."

LIVING ON MARS

Conditions on Mars are slightly less severe than those on the Moon.

Mars has an atmosphere which stops most meteors. The friction of coming through the atmosphere burns up the meteor and the particles of air as a block to radiation.

This atmosphere also keeps the temperature from dropping below -60 degrees at night or above 80 degrees in the daytime at the equator.

As you see, this temperature range is quite a bit wider than that on earth. This is because the atmosphere on Mars is only about as thick as the earth's atmosphere at the top of Mount Everest.

So it is too thin for men to breathe. It is also too thin for gasoline motors.

To power cars on Mars, you'd need engines like those used by the Moon cars. The exploration parties on Mars will not have to worry about climbing steep hills for there are none on Mars.

Explorer Clothes

To stay alive in the open on Mars, the Earthling explorers will need oxygen during the day and warm clothing in addition at night. If the explorers have been trained in high altitude areas, like the mountains of Peru, they may not need any pressure suits.

We've already developed oxygen equipment similar to that which will be needed on Mars. It is now used by high altitude fliers.

We have also developed warm clothing that would be suitable for Mars. This is now used in the Arctic and Antarctic.

Next week: Living On Mars, Part 2.

WANTS CHIVALRY RESTORED

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Taxicab drivers could help "bring back into everyday life the ancient decent deference shown to women in civilized communities," says Catholic Bishop John J. Wright, of Worcester. A beginning gesture, he said, is for men to resume tipping their hats to women.

CAMPUS EVANGELISM

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Baptist convention is making plans for a "daring, new, incisive" campus evangelism program during the 1959-60 academic year, says the Rev. Joseph D. Ban, director of the denomination's "Mission to the "Academic Community."

Mystery Serial –

Muzzle-Loading Gun

By Loella Sloan Young

Synopsis: Daddy tells Georgie and Billy about the mystery note he got with their Great-Grandfather's shotgun. Then he tells them of his Grandfather helping slaves to escape by the "underground railway" in long-ago days and having to explain to the lawman where he had been.

Chapter 8: Trouble Ahead?

"'Rounding up some cattle that had escaped from the shelter of the barn. I must have failed to close the door tightly,' Great-Grandfather told them.

"'With a gun!' the lawman sneered.

"Sir, are you calling me a liar in my own house?" challenged Great-Grandfather doubling his fists. 'If you are looking for trouble, you may find it sooner than you think.' Turning to Constable Winters, he went on 'I never go far from the house on foot at night without my gun. I Don't trust the sort of strangers who go prowling around a man's property these days,' he said looking straight into the eyes of the lawman.

"Ah! Let's go," the lawman growled backing away from Great-Grandfather's wrath. Turning, he stomped loudly through the house and out the front door. 'There's nobody here, anyway, after wasting all this time.'

"Goodnight, Folks,' said Constable Winters following the lawman out the front door. 'Sorry to bother you.'

"Goodnight Constable,' Great-Grandmother called after him. Breathing a deep sigh of relief, she shut the front door and leaned against it, looking at her husband. 'Well, Will?' she questioned him.

On Way To Safety

"You were wonderful keeping them here all that time,' Great-Grandfather praised. 'Annie and Jim are on their way to safety. Simon Johnson met them at the river in his boat. They'll go on up river for several miles to cover their tracks around here. Then someone else will take them on from there.' "

"And did they make it to Canada," asked George interrupting their father's story.

"Yes," answered Daddy. "Great-Grandfather said he heard from Jim after he got to Canada. He found work in the home of a good French farmer. But that was not the last time Great-Grandfather helped move slaves along the 'railway.' He used to chuckle over the way he worked them along without ever being found out. He always talked about his 'secret hidin' place.'

"Secret Hiding place?" questioned Billy in surprise.

CHRISTMAS

Poem By JERRY LAWLESS

Editor's note: The following poem was written by high school student, Jerry Lawless, son of Mrs. Aileen Lawless of 231 E. College.

Christmas—
Now here upon us,
Drifting down like snow
To hug the trees
In winter sleep, and still
Beautiful to make our hearts
Content.

Christmas—
With good-tasting food,
Making us glad and
Happy to think
That we have rounded out
Our personalities and Bodies.

Christmas—
And children's voices
Lauding God and life;
For it is of God
They sing, and, with their love,
They joyfully bear His name
To man.

Frances Mounts And Charles Bruner Wed In City; To Live At Des Moines

Miss Frances Louise Mounts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Mounts of this city and Charles Bruner, Des Moines, Iowa, son of Mrs. Hattie Bruner of Jacksonville, exchanged nuptial vows in a ceremony performed the afternoon of December fourteen at Bethel AME church.

The Reverend K. J. Siddall officiated for the double ring service in the presence of over two hundred guests.

White mums, gladioli, blue carnations and ferns adorned the altar illuminated by tapers in candelabra.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Before the ceremony Mrs. Maxwell Davis sang "Because," and Mrs. Henry Holt and Mrs. William Brown, "I Love You Truly," with Mrs. Bevie Fisher, grandmother of the bride, as accompanist.

Miss Shelwin Walker was the bride's maid of honor and Jamesetta Woods, flower girl.

Willis Bruner served as best man. Ushers were Edward Young and Frederick Douglas. Members of the groom's party wore dark suits and white boutonnieres.

In Formal Gown

The bride wore a ballerina length gown of Chantilly type lace and taffeta. The closely fitted bodice was designed with Sabrina neckline and had brief sleeves extending from the yoke lines of the bodice. Sleeves and bodice were encrusted with seed pearls and iridescent sequins.

The bouffant skirt of tulle featured appliques of lace sequin embroidered. A rhinestone tiara held her veil of illusion and she carried a white Bible topped with blue and white carnations.

The maid of honor wore a ballerina length dress of pastel blue taffeta and lace embroidered with sequins. Her hat was a matching shade of velvet with a blue nose veil and her slippers matched the color of her costume. Long white gloves completed her wedding outfit and she carried a nosegay of blue and white carnations.

Jamesetta wore white organdy with fitted bodice and full ruffled skirt. She carried a blue taffeta basket with white mums.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Mounts wore coral peau de sole with white carnations. Mrs. Bruner wore aqua with white carnations.

Reception At Church

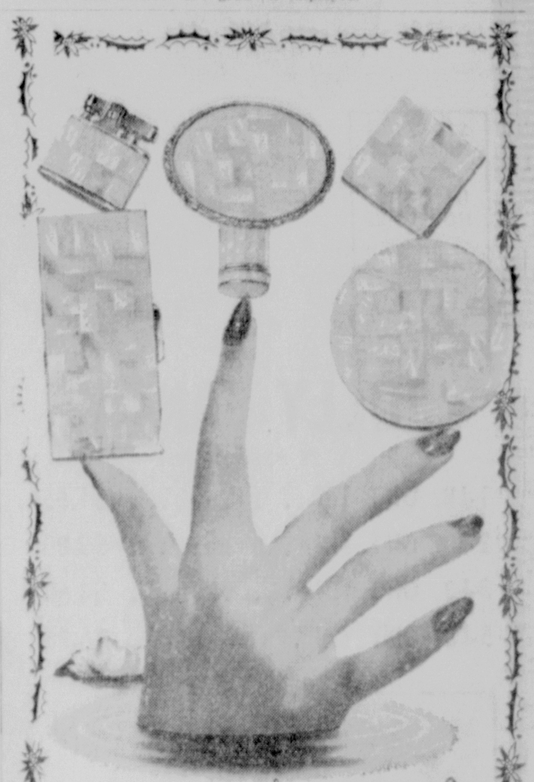

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the parlors of the church. Blue and white were used in the color scheme with the three tiered bride's cake adorned with blue sugar roses. Blue carnations and white roses and mums formed the floral centerpiece. Fruit punch was served with cake, mints and salted nuts. Guests were registered by Miss Sylvia Walker and Mrs. William Brown.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. William Norvell, Jr., Mrs. Claude Young, Mrs. John Norton, Jr., and Mrs. Elmer Mitchell. Miss Evelyn Jordon, Miss Dovie Woods, Mrs. Penita Jordon, Miss Mattie Thorne.

Miss Laura Bruner, Miss Mary Davis and junior helper, Josephine Jordon, all of this city, and Miss Frances Gaines, St. Louis, Mo.

When the newlyweds left for Des Moines the bride was wearing a fall plaid in blues and gray with black accessories and the blue and white corsage from her wedding bouquet.

Frances and Charles are graduates of Jacksonville high school. Mrs. Bruner studied music at MacMurray College and has been employed as lab technician at Our Saviour's hospital. The newlyweds will make their home in Des Moines where the bridegroom is employed.

With The Girl Scouts

MERRY CHRISTMAS to all, and the happiest of Holidays. Thanks to each and everyone who has helped in any way to promote Girl Scouting in 1958. Without the generosity and support of interested friends, we could accomplish very little, and we do appreciate all the ways in which you have shown your interest.

Many nice surprises happen at Christmas time, and our thanks go to the troops who came caroling to 1040 West College on Thursday, Dec. 18, (we suspect Troops 31 and 63). Thanks for brightening our evening.

Brownie Troop No. 9 Washington School and their leader, Mrs. Philip Bradish, made and delivered to Passavant Hospital a number of Christmas Tree nut-cup favors.

Intermediate Troop No. 5, Franklin, has been busy making beautiful etched aluminum coasters and are very pleased with the results of their metal work.

Senior Scout Troop No. 1 decorated an impressive float for the annual Chamber of Commerce Christmas parade held Saturday, Dec. 20. Their theme was "Shepherds at the Manger" and a great deal of credit goes to their leader, Mrs. Richard Rowe, Jr., who guided their efforts in assembling the float.

Senior Scout Troop No. 1 has also been busy this past week holding a rummage sale back of the jail, hoping to raise money for a troop camping trip next summer. A great deal of rummage was contributed by the mothers and girls, and a very nice sum cleared.

The Girl Scout office will be closed from noon of Dec. 24 to Jan. 5. Please come in on Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 22 and 23, if you need anything; and if it is necessary, the executive director may be reached at any time during the holidays at her home phone, CH 5-6226.

Modern meat-type hogs may be more likely to catch pneumonia than the old-fashioned lard-type hogs.

Average milk production per cow in 1957 for the 1,870 Illinois herds enrolled in Dairy Herd Improvement Associations, Owner-Sampler Testing or Weigh-a-Day-a-Month programs was 10,280 pounds.

Businessmen serving agriculture will have an excellent opportunity to hear about future trends and what they mean at the first Agricultural Industries Forum at the University of Illinois Jan. 27 and 28, 1959.

Waverly-Franklin School District Merger Discussed

At a meeting held at Waverly High School, members of the Boards of Education of Unit District No. 1 (Franklin-Alexander) and Unit District No. 6 (Waverly) entered into a study of the advantages and disadvantages of a consolidation of these two school districts.

All board members were present and others taking part in the discussion were Supt. Harry Fitzhugh and Principal L. E. Laugharn of Franklin; Supt. Eugene Hopper and Grade School Principal Forrest Moore of the Waverly Unit, and Wilfrid E. Rice, Morgan County Superintendent of Schools.

Mr. Fitzhugh acted as discussion leader for the evening.

In the course of the study, figures were presented showing the tax rates, area served, subjects taught, enrollment per class, and a number of other pertinent facts concerning the two schools. Also considered was the indicated enrollment increase to come in the next few years. In all these matters, it was found that there was considerable similarity in the two districts.

Discussing changes that would need to be made by such a consolidation, it was stated that the merger need not require a major building program although some building additions would likely be necessary. It was generally agreed that regardless of other transportation changes, every present attendance center would continue to serve lower grade children.

In conclusion, all members present, aware of the fact that the final decision in the matter will rest with the residents of the district, agreed to give the subject further and detailed study in the near future.

COULD HAPPEN ALMOST ANYWHERE—Earthquakes threaten all of the United States in varying degrees, according to Dr. Charles F. Richter, professor of seismology at the California Institute of Technology. Quake risk probability map, above, shows the maximum earth shock that can be expected, according to Dr Richter's calculations. Danger areas are listed as: Northwestern New England and New York near the St. Lawrence rift; a belt extending east from the Central Mississippi Valley through South Carolina and part of Georgia; the Rio Grande Valley in New Mexico and southwest Texas; a narrow belt extending through Montana, Idaho, Utah and Arizona and in California's San Joaquin, southern Sacramento and Imperial Valley. Chicago, Kansas City, Tulsa and Los Angeles are rated potential danger areas. Question marks indicate doubtful areas where the estimates might have to be revised in the light of additional information.

Weather maps below show the U.S. Weather Bureau's 30-day forecast for mid-December to mid-January. It is not a specific forecast in the usual sense, but an ESTIMATE of average temperatures and precipitation for the period.

Temperature outlook for the 30-day period of mid-December to mid-January calls for below seasonal normals over the eastern half of the nation except for near normal in Florida. Above normal temperatures are expected to prevail west of the Continental Divide. In the central plains, about normal temperatures are in prospect, but with large variations about the normal.

The Weather Bureau's 30-day forecast for precipitation in the period of mid-December to mid-January shows normal or above normal in the East, along the Gulf Coast and over the eastern Great Lakes. In the North, much of this will be snow. This also holds for the Pacific Northwest and central and northern plains. Subnormal precipitation is expected in the rest of the country.

Mid-East, Faith Lutheran Women's Group Subject

The afternoon group of the Women of Faith Lutheran church met Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 17, at the home of Mrs. Vic Mosley.

Mrs. John Thompson gave the topic, "Christmas in Bethlehem," which gave an understanding of the customs of the Orthodox Christians in the Middle East. Even though many of the people are Moslems they have an interest in the Christian Gospel through the Lutheran World Federation in its aid to refugees of the Arab-Israeli wars.

Mrs. Gus Kilver presided at the business meeting and ten members answered roll call using scripture containing the word, "Peace." The group decided to quilt a quilt for the St. Matthew Lutheran Home in Chicago.

Dressings for Hansen's disease and cancer were made during the afternoon. The hostess served delicious refreshments at the close of the meeting.

U. S. consumers enjoy the world's safest and purest milk supplies. And, thanks to trained "tasters," American milk is also the world's best tasting milk. These tasters are employed in many dairies to detect off-flavors not only in milk, but in many other dairy products.

FLICKERING PARTING

LONDON (AP)—After the electric lights failed in London divorce court one commissioner heard a case for nearly 45 minutes by candlelight.

THE STORY: Early in her marriage a doctor had informed Hope that she could not have a baby after losing her first. Now she discovers she is going to have one. She is afraid to tell Adam, because she is afraid he won't want her to have the child.

* * *

XVII

If Adam said she must not have this child, what was she to do? She thought of the doctor's office and the voice saying, "You are a very healthy young woman." This was not a doctor who would interfere unless her life was endangered. It wouldn't be, but Adam would think it was.

And she thought, further, I don't want this child. I don't. I don't.

She considered it not as a personality, not as a dependent individual, but as a faceless wedge driven between them; as a helpless but ruthless entity demanding attention, demanding love, demanding also to share.

There wasn't enough; there was too much; but whether too little to share with a third person or too much that couldn't be shared, it belonged to her and Adam.

She spoke to the unknown. She said in her mind, We don't need you.

And instantly was frightened. Would the child know that, this formless embryonic entity, and resent it?

This was not a secret you could keep for long, the biological processes had arranged that. Next week, she thought, when next morning she woke and remembered. She had been uneasily dreaming. In her dream she could not find Adam, yet knew he was next door; but there were no doors, no windows, only smooth unbroken walls and a loud-speaker, saying over and over, from some remote distance, "You are a healthy young woman, a healthy young woman."

She telephoned Dr. Emile and asked if he could come for dinner on Friday.

At about the time Adam and their guest were expected a car turned in at the driveway but it did not have the sound of their car, which had developed personality in the engine. Presently they would replace it; things were going well.

* * *

Hope went to the door with the light of anticipation in her eyes, forgetting as usual to remove her apron. The car was a taxi. Dr. Emile was paying the driver, and Adam was not with him.

"Nothing serious. Adam telephoned and said he'd been held up—a man came unexpectedly into town, I think. He'd have to have early dinner with him, so I was to come out and, if possibly, console you."

They went in and Dr. Emile shed his outer garments. He said, "Adam will be here later, so you are to make fresh coffee about eight o'clock."

"He could have telephoned me," Hope said, outraged. "I wouldn't have unfrozen all the chops!"

"You talk like a bride." He regarded her with appreciation. "You even look like one. Do you mind so much the old man who comes and goes like a shadow in your life?"

They had a good dinner and talk which ranged over a number of fields.

Back in the living room, Dr. Emile asked thoughtfully, "Would you care to talk with me, Hope?"

She looked at him with utmost amazement. She said, "Well, naturally, I always like—"

"But," he interrupted, "I don't mean that. Is there any way I can help you?"

She began to tremble, and asked, low, "What makes you think I need help?"

"Adam. Oh, there is a client really, but he could have come home. When he called me he said, 'There's something troubling Hope and she won't tell me. She pretends it isn't there. I can't press her because if she doesn't want to tell me—'"

"Adam said that?"

"He did. Are you astonished?"

"No, not really."

"He said," Dr. Emile went on "—and I was grateful to him—'Hope loves you, we both do; she trusts you. Perhaps she will tell you.' But all evening I have seen no sign that you wished to speak to me about anything of consequence. So I asked."

* * *

She wrung her hands together in an unconsciously dramatic gesture; the palms were wet.

She said, "It's true that I haven't told Adam. I'll tell you, Dr. Emile. I'm pregnant."

"But that is wonderful—" He broke off and looked at her with loving reproach. "Why haven't you told him, when it will be such happiness?"

"It wouldn't be. I was pregnant once before, we'd been married two years. I had the same doctor I now have. He thought it incredible then that I'd conceived at all, as there was a congenital condition which appeared to rule it out. But once having done so there seemed no reason why everything shouldn't be all right. It wasn't. I miscarriaged early. Adam was furious; he was angry with me, with himself."

"With you?"

"Yes. I figured out why only recently. Because I'd frightened him. So he was angry with me, himself, the doctors, everyone. We had consultants and all that and the verdict was, eventually, that I wouldn't have a child, ever. It had been a sort of fluke; they thought it couldn't happen again. But the condition could be corrected surgically. I was willing if Adam wished it. He didn't."

"And you didn't either?"

"Not really. I don't suppose I'm very maternal. But the condition appears to have righted itself somehow."

"These things happen."

Pastoral Helpers Hear History Of Christmas Songs

CHAPIN—The Pastoral Helpers of the Christian church met at the home of Anna Delph with Mrs. Laura Fisher co-hostess. Inez Bonds had charge of devotions.

Program opened with singing "Joy To The World," followed by the Lord's Prayer. Inez Bonds read the Christmas Story from Luke. Secretary and treasurer's reports were read and accepted. Roll call was answered by 15 members giving a Bible verse with the word "Jesus."

Gifts were brought to be presented to the minister. Cookies, candy and fruit will be taken to the church on Monday, Dec. 22 to be presented to those who are ill or shut in.

Following the program Mrs. Adelaide Brockhouse had charge of the social hour. Historys of the songs, "Silent Night," "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "O Come All Ye Faithful" were read by Mrs. Brockhouse and with Mrs. Delph at the organ the group joined in singing the songs.

GERMANY: From Disunity to Empire to Division

The history of modern Germany is written in the expansion of Prussia. It had emerged strengthened after the collapse of Napoleon's empire in 1815, but Austria now dominated Europe. In 1867, under the leadership of Bismarck, Prussia defeated Austria in the Seven Weeks' War and formed the North German Confederation.

War between Prussia and France brought the southern German states into closer ties with Prussia. Defeat of France added Alsace-Lorraine to Germany. In 1871 the German Empire was proclaimed and Wilhelm I was crowned emperor in Versailles. From a multiplicity of medieval states, a unified Germany had finally emerged.

Defeat of Germany in World War I drastically altered the map of Europe. New nations were formed out of the ruins of the Hohenzollern, Hapsburg and Romanov empires. The German Weimar Republic succumbed to the Nazis in 1933. Under Adolf Hitler, Germany reached the high-water mark of her power during World War II.

Germany once again is a divided nation—in the west, the Federal Republic, with its capital at Bonn; in the east, a Soviet puppet regime. An island here is the city of Berlin, half free, half Communist. The world watches tensely the latest Soviet pressures on this city in a land that so often before in history has touched off war.

Pauline Miller Group Holds Christmas Party

The Pauline Miller Group met at the Central Christian church Thursday afternoon, Dec. 18, for its monthly meeting. Eight members were present and Mrs. Roy Smith was hostess assisted by Mrs. Mary Grace Humphrey.

After reading the minutes of the November meeting, Mrs. Humphrey presented the devotions. Seven of the members present told of a strange custom used in foreign countries during the Christmas season.

A Christmas meditation was given by Mrs. Humphrey. The piece was written by Mrs. Gerald Miller who was ill and unable to attend. The theme used was "The Word Made Flesh," and the period closed with a Christmas story, "The Ragged Cloak."

After the offering was taken, Mrs. Milton Edge told of the history of the Christian church. Refreshments were served during the social hour which followed the meeting.

Nephrosis, nephritis and other kidney disorders are killing Americans at the rate of 30,000 a year, according to estimates.

SOBERING CHANGE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Janitors at Jefferson County Courthouse are paid on Saturdays now instead of Wednesday.

Fiscal Court changed the payday after Frank Norris, head custodian, said too many of the men celebrated Wednesday night and weren't able to work Thursday.

Being paid on Saturday, Norris said, would give them Sunday to recuperate.
